HOW NOT TO CLIMB A GUY WIRE—Hurling through the air, the body of Don Nixon, Oregon logger, races towards what seems certain death. After a fall of 60 feet he landed on his head atop an automobile, miraculously escaped injury. It happened at Seaside, Ore., during logger's carnival while Nixon was demonstrating how to climb a guy wire.

Historic Pledge for World's Future Made by Churchill and Roosevelt

Canadian and Associated Press
Out of a secret ocean meeting between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt today came a formal declaration of war aims which went beyond the destruction of Hitlerism.

News of the history-making meeting was released in London, Washington and Ottawa simultaneously, and in a broadcast by Clement Attlee, Lord Privy Seal.

It put an end to more than a week of speculation over whereabouts of the two world-famed figures, the one leader of a nation at war and the other leader of a nation nominally at peace but giving all possible aid to the other.

The announcement gave no hint of where in the North Atlantic the meeting took place.

A joint statement from the two said "several conferences" were held, indicating Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt may have been together several days. From Saturday until this morning there was no published word from the president's party which sailed from New London, Conn., on the U.S.S. Potomac, August 3.

The statement said Lord Beaverbrook, British Minister of Supply, and high ranking officials of military, naval and air forces of the two countries were present. The latter group presumably included Gen. George C. Marshall, United States army chief of staff, and Major-General H. H. Arnold, chief of United States army air forces.

Harry L. Hopkins, U.S. lease-lend administrator, was not mentioned specifically, but there was reason to believe that he, too, was present.

How Mr. Churchill and his aides went to the meeting as well as the place of the meeting, were kept secret in London.

Speculation regarding the Prime Minister's present whereabouts was not permitted to England.

Problems of supplying munitions of war to the forces of the nations fighting aggression and of the United States were examined at the conference.

The eight-point declaration on war aims called for "final destruction of the Nazi tyranny" but made no mention of the situation in the Far East.

It held out to the warring nations, including Germany, assurance of fair treatment after hostilities end as it called for "a peace which will afford all nations the means of dwelling in safety within their own boundaries."

Equal Trade Rights To All People

The two leaders declared Britain and United States sought no aggrandizement, would respect the right of all peoples to choose the form of government they wished and would endeavor to further enjoyment by all states of equal access to the trade and raw materials of the world.

Disarmament of nations which threaten or may threaten aggression pending the establishment of a permanent system of general security was declared essential.

Although the declaration made no direct reference to any government other than the "Nazi tyranny" the preamble said the two leaders considered the dangers to civilization arising from the policy of domination by conquest embarked upon by "the Hitlerite government of Germany and other governments associated therewith."

Canada Expected To Endorse Plan

So far as could be learned no Canadian officials took part in the conferences, but Mr. King was expected to make a statement endorsing the declaration on behalf of the government of Canada.

Newspapermen were advised last night to go to Mr. King's office in Ottawa for an important announcement. A secretary delivered copies of the official statement a few minutes before Mr. Attlee's speech came over the radio.

The statement said they made clear the steps which their countries are respectively taking for their safety in the face of the dangers arising from the policies of Hitler's government and those associated with it.

The joint declaration, constituting the most concrete war aims yet disclosed on the British side, set out "certain common principles in the national policies of their respective countries on which they base their hopes for a better world."

The President and Prime Minister declared their belief after their historic meeting at sea, that "after the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny" the disarmament of aggressor nations "is essential" pending the establishment of "a wider and permanent system of general security."

Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt met with the full knowledge of the Dominions, but the historic eight-point declaration is described as a United Kingdom-United States agreement.

8-Point Declaration of Democracies

The eight points agreed on by Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt, and announced simultaneously in London, Washington and Ottawa, follow:

1—Their countries seek no aggrandizement, territorial or other.

2—They desire to see no territorial changes that do not accord with the freely expressed wishes of the peoples concerned.

3—They respect the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live; and they wish to see sovereign and self-government restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them.

4—They will endeavor, with due respect for their existing obligations, to further enjoyment by all states, great or small, victorious or vanquished, of access, on equal terms, to the trade and to the raw materials of the world, which are needed for their economic prosperity.

5—They desire to bring about the fullest collaboration between all nations in the economic field with the object of securing for all improved labor standards, economic advancement and social security.

6—After the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny, they hope to see established a peace which will afford all nations the means of dwelling in safety within their own boundaries and which will afford the assurance that all men in all the lands may live out their lives in freedom from fear and want.

7—Such a peace should enable all men to traverse the high seas and oceans without hindrance.

8—They believe that all the nations of the world, for realistic as well as spiritual reasons, must come to the abandonment of the use of force. Since no future peace can be maintained if land, sea or air armament continue to be employed by nations which threaten, or may threaten, aggression outside their frontiers, they believe, pending the establishment of a wider and permanent system of general security, that disarmament of such nations is essential. They will likewise aid and encourage all other practicable measures which will lighten for peace-loving peoples, the crushing burden of armament.

ably not news to Tokyo since the first admissions in the Japanese press that Britain and the United States were jointly opposing Japanese expansion southward appeared "after it was pretty certain that Churchill and Roosevelt were meeting."

Things left unsaid in the statement are regarded as fully as important as those of the eight-point declaration.

Omission of reference to Japan "implies that Japan was one of the main points of discussion," a Japanese diplomat admitted.

Roosevelt Invited British Leader

British informants said the meeting was at Mr. Roosevelt's invitation.

The Japanese source said the tempo of the Japanese advance in south Asia was slowed even as rumors of the historic meeting between the British and American leaders sped around the world.

There would be no surprise in London if a further announcement were made that Churchill and Roosevelt had sent personal assurances to Josef Stalin and the Russian people that Britain and the United States will give the U.S.S.R. the fullest industrial co-operation in arming and supplying the Red army, air force and navy.

Workers in factories and workshops throughout Britain heard Mr. Attlee by radio instead of their usual "music-while-you-work" program. In some factories machinery was stopped or otherwise made quiet so workers could listen.

Short-wave transmitters in addition carried translations of Mr. Attlee's words to Germany, France and other parts of the world.

Ground Work For Staff Talks

Presence at the meeting of the senior officers of the fighting services of the two countries implies, one source asserted, that there would be at least the groundwork for active co-operation, if not staff talks, should the United States enter the war.

Such groundwork would be vital, it was said, if the two nations begin jointly any military or naval action in the Pacific.

Spanish diplomatic sources in London, probably closer to the Axis than any other diplomats here, said the declaration "says nothing which has not already been said by the two leaders separately."

This was admitted by informed British sources, who nevertheless made the important addition that "the very fact that only this much of the discussions was disclosed points to agreement on more specific plans."

One of these was believed to be the attitude of the United States toward the Vichy regime should it allow the Germans to occupy Dakar and French North Africa.

It was understood Mr. Churchill has long feared such a German move, and he probably made every effort to stress its importance.

Comparing the sea meeting to those of Hitler and Mussolini in the Brenner Pass, one informed diplomatic source said that the ultimate similarity would be that this meeting, like those, foreshadowed some "decisive step in joint policy."

This source said that the President and the Prime Minister were in close consultation for three days, during which "they probably discussed the whole field of the war."

time and scrap our weapons when the war is over."

It was firmly believed by many competent observers that although the eight points—which they regarded as strongly reminiscent of Woodrow Wilson's famous 14 points in the first Great War—dealt mainly with general questions, the meeting was marked by adoption of a "down to brass tacks" attitude in dealing with the Japanese.

Joint Action If Japan Moves

It is quite probable, according to these informants, that the two leaders agreed on:

1. The precise moment when the British and United States governments would discard passive resistance for action against Japan.

2. Mutual use of British and United States bases in the south Pacific.

3. A request to the Soviet Union to open a northern front with a Siberian Red army of 1,000,000 men if war should start in the south Pacific.

Japanese sources admitted ruefully that "all these are possibilities, not necessarily probabilities."

Complete Picture Of Russia's Needs

The presence of United States lease-lend administrator Harry Hopkins at the meeting, an American source said, "assured a full and complete picture of the Russian's war needs, for war not only on one front but in Siberia if necessary."

Mr. Hopkins had returned to London from Moscow shortly before leaving with Mr. Churchill for the meeting at sea.

Japanese in London declared announcement of the meeting was not news to them and prob-

CBR Sleeps As Attlee Talks

Clement Attlee's speech was heard here direct from London at 7 a.m. over Seattle stations of the U.S. networks, as announced.

Columbia followed with a special program, Ed Murrow from London and Elmer Davis from Washington. NBC followed with a commentary which included two U.S. Senators.

Persons who counted on hearing Major Attlee over the Canadian government's CBR and stayed tuned there missed out as CBR did not even come on.

Complaints poured by telephone from persons who missed the direct broadcast by staying tuned to CBR.

"What are we paying our $2.50 to the CBC for?" one man asked. "Every time there is an important broadcast this government-owned Canadian radio lets us down. The boys in the cushy jobs sleep on and say 'the public be damned!'"

The Chamber of Commerce, deluged with complaints, protested to Toronto against another example of "inefficiency of the radio bureaucracy."

TOO EARLY, SAYS CBR

VANCOUVER—Canadian Broadcasting officials here explained they were unable to broadcast the Attlee talk at 7 a.m., daylight-saving time, today because they don't open their CBR station here until 7.30 a.m. They explained they broadcast the talk later in the day from records.

Weather May Slow Nazis

Canadian and Associated Press
The weather again has turned rainy in the Ukraine and German sources in Berlin said this may mean a slowdown of action on that front.

This was taken to mean in neutral sources things were not going as well today for the Nazis.

In Moscow the Russian army reported the German 39th Tank Corps, 11 other divisions and 13 regiments have been routed on the western and southwestern sectors of the front and that the situation again had become stable and quiet.

In Berlin the Nazi high command claimed Odessa had been encircled by Rumanian forces in collaboration with the drive of German, Italian and Hungarian troops in the southern Ukraine. Nikolaev, near Odessa, also was reported ringed.

The Russian army newspaper, Red Star, estimated many other German divisions had suffered more than 50 per cent losses.

This list, it added, does not include "many divisions destroyed in the northern and northwestern Bessarabian directions."

A Russian communique acknowledged that Smolensk was abandoned "a few days ago," and detailed "German units which, it said, 'have felt the full strength of Soviet arms' and have left 'the old Napoleonic road strewn with the corpses of tens of thousands of German soldiers.'"

Germany's best divisions either have been destroyed or "are losing blood," Pravda declared, and "the German army is throwing into battle new reserves after taking smashed divisions to the rear, re-forming them and sending them back to the fighting fronts."

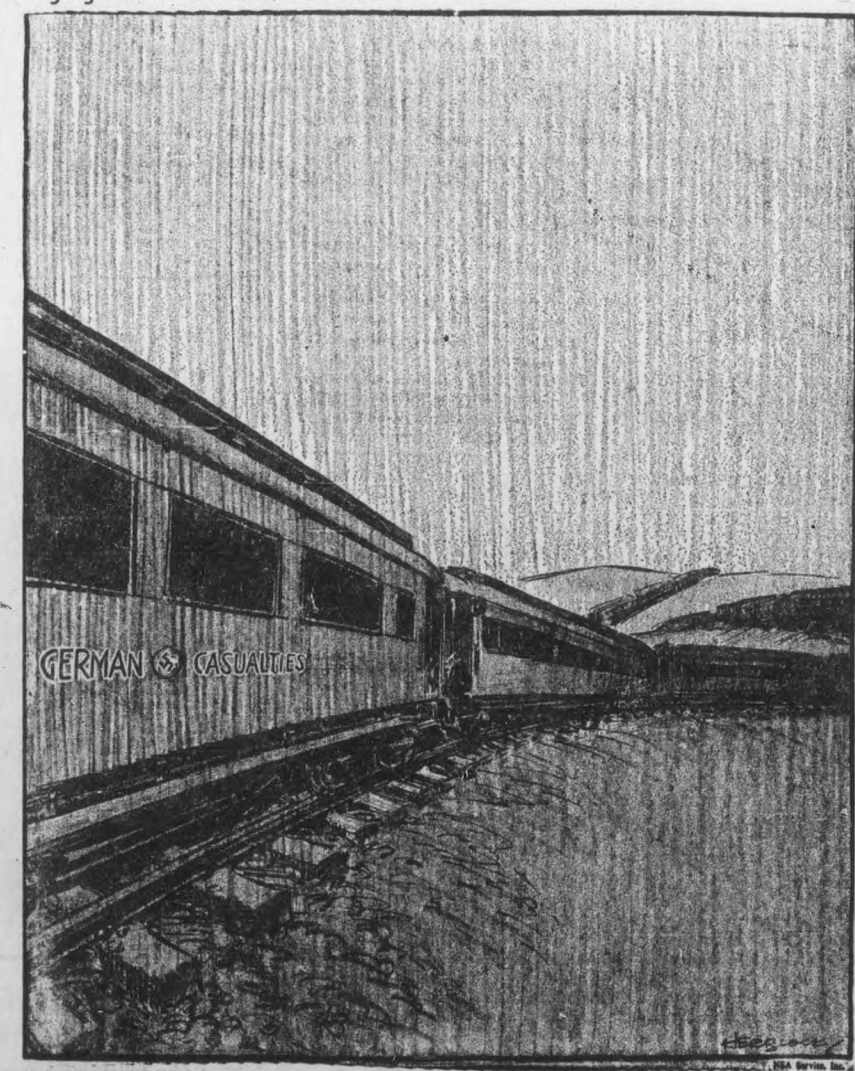

"The German army still is powerful," it conceded, "but the myth of the invincibility of German arms is crushed once and for ever."

The special Nazi communique contained the first official mention of active participation by Italian troops against the Russians.

The German high command claimed the Russian defence in the Ukraine was completely breaking down.

All German war reports stressed air blows behind the Russian lines, both in the south and the north.

CHILIAN OFFICERS NAZI IN SYMPATHY

SANTIAGO Chile (AP) — An assertion that 95 per cent of the nation's army officers are pro-Nazi in their sympathies was heard by the Chamber of Deputies early today. The Chamber, called into extraordinary session last night, received at the same time a bill to outlaw Nazi organizations in Chile.

Introduced by a Socialist deputy, the proposed legislation not only would ban Nazi activities, but would permit deportation of persons engaged therein.

The assertion that Chilean army officers are largely pro-German was made by Deputy Jorge Gonzalez von Marees, chief of the popular Socialist vanguard formerly known as the Na-

Women Take Men's Places

When women and girls take the jobs of men who joined the armed forces they are entitled to the same wages, the B.C. Board of Industrial Relations ruled today when it issued a minimum wage order covering females in the transportation industry.

Adam Bell, board chairman, said the order was passed to deal with women and girls who are becoming increasingly engaged in various delivery services. At present they are not covered by a standard minimum wage, but only by the scales applying to the particularly business where they work, and these rates vary.

The order establishes minimum pay at the same rates as those in an existing order covering men and boys.

Mr. Bell said the board has found that women and girls are engaged in various types of delivery work including driving light trucks riding in motorcycles and bicycles and acting as messengers, swimmers and helpers, and even driving horse-drawn vehicles.

Rates and hours of work are established in all these classes, with provision for overtime up to 54 hours a week for drivers of delivery trucks.

Girls riding solo motorcycles are limited to a 48-hour week. The minimum pay is set at 30 cents an hour for those working less than 40 hours a week, 25 cents for those working from 40 to 48 hours. For girls riding bicycles the rates are 20 cents and 17 cents.

The new order is effective next Monday, August 18.

LOOK FOR BOYS

Provincial police here have been asked to help locate Frank and John Askew of Vancouver, who were reported cruising in the Gulf Islands or Nanaimo area in a 40-foot yawl.

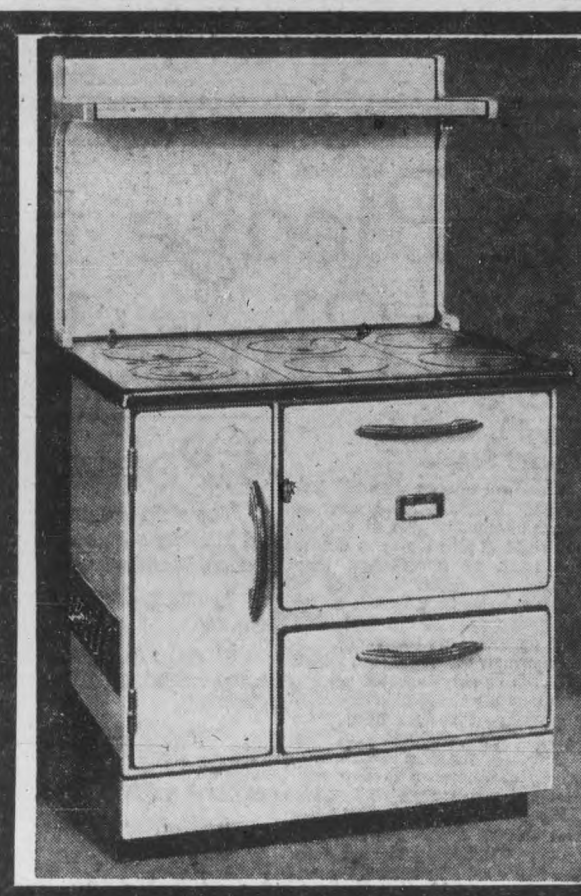

The boys' mother was said to be extremely ill in Vancouver, and their father wished them to return home immediately.

The boys were believed to have left the Royal Victoria Yacht Club this morning. Their yawl has a white hull with bright yellow spars. The name of the boat is Here and There.

tional Socialist Party, who claimed it is "absurd to combat the German regime."

He declared Chile would receive "many benefits" if Germany won the war.

Gonzalez was reproved by a Conservative deputy, who called his statement "inconvenient."

'Gee, It Was Swell'

Blenheims Everywhere Dutch People Cheer

LONDON (CP) — The British public was introduced today through a newspaper picture to 19-year-old Sgt. Pilot Jack Nickleson of Toronto, and the two other members of his bomber crew who participated in a Royal Air Force mass raid during daylight Tuesday on the German centre of Cologne.

The caption, under a three-column cut of the picture in the News-Chronicle, said that "for these men the bombing of Cologne during daylight was their introduction to actual war."

SHY

Nickleson, wearing a shy, boyish smile and the Royal Air Force-style battle dress, is shown standing in front of his taller English crewmates, an observer and air gunner. The crewmates were not identified.

The "baby" of his squadron, Nickleson was flushed with excitement over piloting his bomber to its base following the raid.

"Gee, it was swell," he said. "Everywhere you looked there were Blenheim bombers. We had bad luck because our formation leader hit a high-tension wire and crashed.

"It's no use wearing a pair of shoes (parachute) at the height we were traveling over Cologne. We were less than 250 feet above the ground at times.

"We could see people waving at us all the way across Holland," the young pilot said. "Some were thrusting their thumbs up in the air in the typical 'thumbs up' salute; some made the 'V' sign with their fingers. I saw others jumping up and down with their arms over their heads in the form of a 'V'."

CHEERS

"We saw them cheering—and thought we could even hear the cheers above the roar of our engines."

Nickleson was 18 when he joined the Royal Canadian Air Force on graduation from North Toronto Collegiate a year ago last June. After training under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan he went overseas with a large contingent early last spring. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Nickleson.

No Reason for Despair Says Darlan to France

VICHY (AP) — Leadership along the path designated by Marshal Petain was promised today by Vice-Premier Jean Darlan to Vichy's land, sea and air forces. Darlan's message was given in his new role as minister of national defence.

"I know I can count on the devotion of all to the cause of France so nobly defended by the marshal," Darlan declared. "Everyone can count on me to lead them along the road indicated by the wisdom and far-sightedness of the illustrious soldier who has made the country the gift of his person."

He said there was no reason for despair, but to study the causes of defeat in order to avoid them in the future.

Shooting of Hiranuma Held Not Good Sign

By MAX HILL

TOKYO (AP)—An assassin, posing as an autograph-seeker, shot and gravely wounded Baron Kikichiro Hiranuma, 75-year-old vice-premier and minister without portfolio, today.

The senior statesman, a moderating influence on Japanese policy, was struck in the chest and jaw and his condition was reported as serious.

The gunman gained entry to Hiranuma's home by the autograph ruse and fired three shots from a pistol he had hidden in a parchment scroll on which he pretended to want the baron's signature.

CAPTURED

He was captured before he could flee the grounds of the Hiranuma home.

Hiranuma has been regarded as a mainstay of the cabinet of Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye and definitely a moderating influence.

Observers said, therefore, the fact such an attack should occur was not considered a good sign in a time of tense international relations.

The attacker, identified as Naohiko Nishiyama, hails from Okayama prefecture, the same as Hiranuma does.

He pulled a pistol from the roll and fired three shots in all, authorities reported. The first missed, but the others struck Hiranuma in the jaw and chest.

Despite his age and wounds, the vice-premier pursued the attacker from the house and was caught and held him, with the aid of a gatekeeper.

Prince Konoye and Home Minister Harumichi Tanabe were among the dignitaries who visited the wounded man during the day.

In this connection it was recalled a number of men in the cabinet have looked to Hiranuma for guidance and observers said it would be a severe blow if he were incapacitated.

NAZIS ALSO HAVE COL. LAWRENCE

LONDON (CP)—A sharp-eyed, swarthy Nazi, who likes to be known as Germany's "Colonel Lawrence," is busy with German intrigue in the Middle East—at the present moment in Iran—writes the Daily Mail correspondent in a dispatch from Cairo.

The correspondent said the Nazi, Arthur Groba, fired with ambition to establish a German empire in the Middle East, knows a half-dozen Arab dialects and often passes for a native.

The correspondent continued: "When his Syrian wife died in 1920 Groba embraced Islam and plunged into the study of Oriental languages to dull his grief. Five years later he met Ludendorff and the dream of a German Orient took shape. Groba became the Wilhelmstrasse's keyman for Arabic affairs.

"This was his mission: To create all possible trouble for Britain and France; to collect all the oil he could."

To Give Everything

HALIFAX (CP)—Sir William Glasgow, Australian high commissioner to Canada, told news-men here the situation in the far east is "at a critical stage" and "we are ready to give our everything" should the need be to defend our country.

Sir William is here to visit members of the Australian forces stationed in the area.

"Australia values its present way of life and system of government and the world can rely on our country to do its best to preserve these," he declared.

"Although we are keeping our eyes open to all sides, Hitler is regarded as the greatest menace, not only to us, but to the whole world. He must be crushed and all those who value the present way of living should regard this as their fight as much as it is Britain's."

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepples Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, doped, tired and pepples.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today.

King Flies to Review Battle Fleet

LONDON (CP)—King George has returned to London after a three-day inspection of the Royal Navy's Home Fleet "in northern waters."

His Majesty made history, for it was the first time a British monarch had flown to visit his fleet. The King went north in a Lockheed Hudson, his personal pilot, Wing-commander E. H. Fielden at the controls. Fighter planes of the Royal Air Force were escorts.

While the traditional ceremony of a Royal fleet inspection was carried out, every ship was under "short notice"—ready to engage hostile forces if the occasion demanded it.

KNIGHTHOOD

Highlight of His Majesty's visit and inspection was the conferring of a knighthood on Admiral Sir John Cronyn Tovey, commander of the Home Fleet. The King invested the Admiral with the insignia of Knight Commander of the Order of the Bath in a ceremony in the Admiral's cabin aboard his flagship, King George V, aboard which the King made his headquarters.

Seven officers and 15 men were also decorated. His Majesty visited aircraft carriers, cruisers and destroyers which have participated in recent action. On the last day he boarded and inspected a former United States destroyer, now part of the fleet.

Each morning His Majesty went in the Admiral's barge to inspect units of the fleet, some of which had taken part in patrols near enemy coasts only a few hours before.

The King talked to the men of his encounters with German naval and air forces. Singled out on one occasion were two Free French sailors and one Norwegian who are volunteers in the Royal Navy.

His tour of the flagship was extensive, taking him inside the giant quadruple 14-inch gun turrets and between decks where he inspected the complicated electrical gear and modern machinery.

TRADITION

Despite glaring electric lights below decks the navy preserved its tradition by having the master-at-arms go ahead of the Royal party carrying a lighted candle just as was done in Nelson's day.

In the ship's chapel the King saw the Bible used by his father, which was presented to the ship after George V's death.

As His Majesty took final leave, officers and men lined the sides of every ship cheering.

Admiral Tovey went ashore with His Majesty, and as they said goodbye the King gave him last command, the traditional "splice the main brace."

HUNTED BISMARCK

Admiral Tovey gained prominence when he headed the fleet that last May hunted out and sank the German battleship Bismarck, which earlier had sent H.M.S. Hood to the bottom. He was greeted in Britain as a national hero and, with true seaman's modesty, gave all credit to his valorous men.

Admiral Tovey was born in 1885, son of a British army man—the late Lieut.-Col. Hamilton Tovey, R.E. He served in the navy during the 1914-18 war, received the Distinguished Service Order and was mentioned in dispatches.

In 1930 he was naval assistant to the Second Sea Lord and two years later was given command of H.M.S. Rodney. From 1935 to 1937 he commanded the R.N. barracks at Chatham, and then was appointed commanding officer of the Mediterranean fleet's destroyer flotilla.

Last year he was named commander-in-chief of the Home Fleet and moved aboard the newly-completed King George V, which carried Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, across the Atlantic to Washington last year. President Roosevelt was one of the first Americans to see the gigantic new British battleship, for he went out in the presidential yacht to greet Halifax and had a good look at the monster man-of-war.

maintenance diet, one with less food than the daily requirement, so that the body consumed its own fat for heat and energy.

The diet averaged 600 to 800 calories daily and the woman lost 115 pounds—at the rate of 29 pounds a month—during the first four months.

The reduction was accompanied by some minor complications for short periods. There was, at times, labored breathing, nausea, severe thirst and abdominal pain, but these unpleasant symptoms were corrected without difficulty.

Varicose veins, which appeared, are to be treated surgically and sagging skin left on the abdomen, hips, thighs and arms was removed.

Dr. Short said that the woman experienced a marked improvement in general health and mental attitude.

Quite a Diet— Loses 300 Pounds

CHICAGO (AP)—How a woman reduced her weight 300 pounds in 18 months by dieting is described in the journal of the American Medical Association.

The woman, who is 35 years old, weighed 479½ pounds.

Dr. James J. Short of New York said that by following a diet under medical supervision the woman lost the weight without injury to health.

Her experience emphasizes, he said, that there apparently is no limit to the amount of excess weight which can be removed with safety.

At the end of the 18 months, the woman had almost lost the ability to walk—not because of exhaustion or weakness, but because removal of so much fat had left muscles too long to work properly. She resumed normal walking in a few weeks.

PIETRO CASTELLEN, 42, Italian national, in Hamilton was fined $20 for failing to comply with the provisions of the National Registration Act and $200 for failing to register as an enemy alien.

Testimony revealed he had been hiding in a rooming house since Italy declared war on Britain, to prevent being deported. He entered the country illegally in 1938 and during the year only left his room to secure food, telling his landlady he was suffering from a bad heart. He gave himself up to Royal Canadian Mounted Police August 5.

Duke Cheered At Edmonton

By ERIC SANDERSON
EDMONTON (CP)—The Duke of Kent was given a rousing welcome by thousands of Edmonton citizens upon his arrival in Edmonton.

His Royal Highness spent more than three hours inspecting units of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan in the Alberta capital before departing on a special train for Medicine Hat, where he inspected the No. 34 service flying training school, operated by the R.A.F. today.

Cheers of thousands greeted the ducal party wherever they went here, and according to a member of the group accorded the Duke "the most spontaneous and enthusiastic welcome yet received on the tour." At the C.N.R. railway depot police lines broke as the Duke was being escorted to his waiting car.

CAUGHT UNAWARES

At No. 2 air observer school repair hanger the Duke and his inspection party dropped in with a suddenness that caught the large staff of grease monkeys completely off guard.

When the Royal visitor walked into the hanger a radio was playing loudly and the mechanics were busy with their wrenches on motors and other plane parts.

The Duke inspected a display of more than 600 men doing physical training, then moved to Pembina Hall, where the officers' mess is located, and had tea.

The Duke left Edmonton at 6:22 p.m. and pulled into Red Deer at 10:30 p.m.

About 12 miles out of Edmonton the train was stopped while the Duke, accompanied by his aide, Wing Cmdr. Sir Louis Greig and his private secretary, J. A. Lowther, went for a 20-minute walk along a country road and through fields of golden wheat.

A New Charter

MR. CHURCHILL AND MR. ROOSEVELT have drawn an imposing outline of the design on which they believe a new world structure should be fashioned. It is simple in its draughtsmanship, bold in its detail, and liberal in its conception. Fair and ordered minds in all lands will welcome this product of the political heads of two great democracies as a new charter for the future of mankind—"after the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny." It should bring hope to the peoples of those nations who are enduring the horror of Gestapo brutality. It should impress the leaders of countries that hesitate to cast their lot with the forces which the British Prime Minister and the President of the United States represent. It should serve to calm the not inconsiderable elements that never weary of misrepresenting the character of the conflict. It should clear the vision of isolationist philosophers. It should create among the bemused populace of totalitarian nations a new mental opposition to government by terrorism. It should provide them with a study in contrast. It should hearten those who fear for the aftermath.

Adolf Hitler and his tools in Italy and Japan will experience no exaltation as they contemplate the design for an alternative New Order to the medieval outline which they already are filling in with brutalitarian details. It is the final warning of the fate which lies in store for their type of philosophy. It is more than this: It is the pronouncement from the leaders of the most powerful association of free peoples in the world that the chief of the Nazi-Fascist clan will be merely wasting time and effort in trying to promote any other method of peace settlement which does not conform to the basic principles embodied in today's declaration from the Prime Minister of Great Britain and the President of the United States. The men of Berlin and Rome and Tokyo may fume and bluster; they may remind Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt that the war has yet to be won; they may threaten to resort to all the diabolical processes of which they undoubtedly are capable to thwart the designers of this new charter; they may say and do all these things. But if their blood lust, their baleful appetite for political and territorial aggrandizement, their belief in racial superiority and all the rest of such nonsense, has not completely beclouded their capacity to differentiate between right and wrong, they are destined for a shock.

Confirmed believers in the elementary principles of democracy's concept of a new world order will find little in the eight-point design which Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt have presented for universal consideration with which they cannot heartily agree. Reaffirmation that neither of their countries seeks any territorial aggrandizement; that borders be changed only on the expressed wish of the peoples concerned; that victorious and vanquished states alike shall be treated in accordance with the general structure to be fashioned; that the whole economic field in all its ramified magnitude shall come under the microscope so that age-long defects are plainly visible and shall lend themselves to equitable correction and adjustment; that the aggressors shall be disarmed; and that "all the men in all the lands may live out their lives in freedom from fear and want"—these are among the vital details that will be fitted into the structure of the new World Order which Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt envision. And it was well they pronounced as a prerequisite for lasting peace, on realistic as well as on spiritual grounds, the abandonment of the use of force in the affairs of men.

That point in the structural design which emphasizes the desire of the draughtsmen "to see sovereign rights and self-government restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them" will naturally evoke some apprehension among many who recall the Wilsonian policy of self-determination and the somewhat unhappy consequences which arose from the process of redrawing borders after the first Great War. But the flaws in the analogy will be apparent under circumstances that must furnish their own commentary. The next settlement will derive its inspiration from the knowledge that the issues of this conflict are clearly and simply defined. It is a people's war—a war of ideals which already has ordered the end of those policies, domestic and international, which have provoked most of the conflicts of the past. The blueprint which Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt have drawn should effectively destroy the dangerous practice which dominated the Peace Conference of 1919 and helped to produce the disasters of September, 1938, and September, 1939. It should be a warning to those stand-patters who still fail to recognize that the old order, with its economic and social inequities, has gone forever.

An astrologer sets some time next March as the new date for the end of the world. Surely there are less drastic solutions for Hitler.

Mr. Maitland Not So Sure?

WHETHER IT IS URGENTLY NECESSARY to hold a general election in British Columbia next October, or whether it might have been better to have postponed it for a few more months, is a matter that need not seriously exercise the mind of the public. Mr. Pattullo has obtained dissolution of the Legislature and in the normal course of events the people are appealed to for fresh instructions after a government has held office for four full years. This is the traditional and correct custom under our system, and there is no valid reason why, after everything is taken into consideration, there need be any departure from it. But when Mr. Maitland, leader of the Conservative Party in this province, tells the electors of Prince Rupert that the main reason given by their representative in the House—who happens to be the Premier himself—for calling the election is ridiculous, he is putting their credulity to a severe test. The government is the servant of the people; and the people desire an accounting of the manner in which their business has been conducted.

It is Mr. Pattullo and his ministerial colleagues who have to answer for any shortcomings of which Mr. Maitland may consider them guilty; and it is for the opposition leader to prove his case. Would the Conservative chief have us believe that he is not at all anxious to occupy that office in the northwest wing of the Parliament Buildings at present occupied by Mr. Pattullo? He cannot truthfully charge the government with "springing" an election without adequate advance notice; and has not Mr. Maitland devoted considerable time during the last year to the perfection of his organization in every part of British Columbia? We seem to recall numerous reports of Conservative meetings at key points, of candidates being groomed for the coming battle of the ballots, and of the leader of the party expressing himself optimistically on the prospects of victory at the polls. One would have thought that after such preparation, apart from the fact that it is time for an election, Mr. Maitland would be welcoming a battle of whose result he seems to be in no doubt.

Too Early to Get Up?

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH THE managerial and operating staff of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation? Throughout the country yesterday the newspapers published the announcement that the major radio systems, would carry Major Clement Attlee's message from London at 7 this morning. The Vancouver regional station was not on the air at that time. It did not open shop until 7:30; and then its announcer began with his usual cheery "Good Morning" as if this 14th day of August, of all days, was just another day to discuss the merits of this or that timepiece or this or that toothpaste. And when the moment arrived for the usual newscast, listeners were told that one of the most momentous declarations of peace policy could be heard "over this station" at 8—one hour after all the rest of the radio stations of the world had heard Major Attlee's recital of the meeting on the high seas of political leaders representing nearly three-quarters of the world's population. Nor is this the first lapse of the CBC on an occasion of this kind. It is about time the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's whole conduct should be subjected to a thorough inquiry by an impartial board of examiners, its deadwood and superfluous officials removed without fear or favor, and reorganized on lines that would render impossible such a ghastly fiasco of management—at least as far as this province is concerned—as that of this morning.

A new idea of science is to lure insects into traps perfumed with the odors which naturally attract them. Thus, for the horsefly, the bait would be Jockey Club.

The Canadian government's official Commercial Intelligence Journal reports a sharp increase in Japan's imports of wheat flour during the first nine months of 1940, adding that "no information is available as to the source of supply." In view of the revelations during the last session at Ottawa about shipments from Canada, the Ottawa Citizen wonders how did that second word get into the Journal's title.

BEDROCK OF BRITISH POLICY

Rejecting a demand for a minister who would have sole charge and be completely responsible for production of war munitions, Mr. Churchill said that such a step would "undermine ministerial responsibility."

How British that is! How eloquent of their understanding of the meaning and implications of representative, responsible government!

Here in Canada we have had demands for a "supreme controller" of war production; somebody who would hack his way through "red tape" and parliamentary "checks and balances."

Mr. Churchill has answered them. Under our theory and process of government there can be no such thing as a "supreme controller" or dictator in war production or in anything else. Not unless we are willing to scrap our ideas of government—go in for totalitarianism. If we want the latter, want somebody with power to spend our money as he pleases, and to be not accountable for it (as Hitler isn't accountable), well and good. But if we don't want that, and want to continue the responsibility of our government to Parliament, and through Parliament to the rest of us, then let us stop talking loosely about a "supreme controller."

"Supreme controllers" have brought the world a lot of trouble. Also the democratic processes, put to the test, seem to be doing fairly well—appear to be catching up on the efficient totalitarians.

Henry McLemore

ORDER OF THE LEAN MIXTURE NEW YORK.

IF THE GOVERNMENT wants a sure-fire means of increasing interest and participation in the national defence program, all it has to do is to create a series of decorations and awards for those citizens whose contributions are outstanding.

The American is a sucker for a medal, a plaque, or a citation of any sort. Give him something he can hang on his chest or his bedroom wall and he'll wade through molten lava in his house slippers for you.

The government should capitalize on this weakness of Americans. We would love it.

Consider Mr. Harold Ickes' current campaign for gasoline conservation. We will all enter into it, sure, but not with the enthusiasm we would if wholehearted participation meant a medal or two.

Why doesn't Mr. Ickes create the Order of the Lean Mixture, Third Class, for those citizens who adjust the carburetors of their cars so that they will operate on a third less gasoline? Or the Order of the Leaner Mixture, Second Class, for those who save a little more fuel? For those who strangled their carburetors so that their cars stalled every block or two for want of gasoline there could be an order known as Knights of the Sputter, First Class.

For the super-patriots, those motorists who in their zeal to save fuel shot the works and took the carburetors out of their cars altogether, there would be the highest order of all. They would be given the title of Commanders of the Hitch Hike. They would be granted the right to wear royal purple bands on their thumbs, and be guaranteed one free half sole for their shoes a year by a grateful government.

WOMEN AND ALUMINUM

THE DRIVE FOR ALUMINUM would derive tremendous impetus from a series of orders for unselfish housewives. As it is now there is no distinguishing between a woman who has given only a coffee strainer and one who has sacrificed a fireless cooker to the cause. This should be remedied, because women, while they are created free and equal, don't relish remaining that way.

No woman would stop with one aluminum pan if she knew that by giving two she would earn the right to wear the same red, white and blue ribbon in her bouffant cap that Mrs. Jones wore. Before she'd let Mrs. Jones have anything on her she'd go down and buy an aluminum pan to give the government.

GRAND DAMES OF BOILERS

TO BRING THE ALUMINUM contributions to a peak the government should create an order called, say, the Grand Dames of the Skillets and Double Boilers. Only those women who had cleaned gut their kitchens of aluminumware would be eligible for membership. There would be certain privileges that no woman could resist. The order would have three or four distinguishing pins and clips; one, perhaps, for any color scheme a woman might wear. The clips and pins would be large, too. Women don't like organizations whose badges run to the small size. There would be an annual encampment of the Grand Dames of the Skillets and Double Boilers, of course.

JOINING ANTI-JAPS

NEVER BEFORE has it been possible to wear as many buttons, badges, ribbons and clips. As a nation we love this. Joining things rates a close second to baseball as a national sport.

As I write this, the other half of my family is away joining an anti-Japanese silk stocking society. She already has so many badges that she looks as if she were wearing a suit of armor when she puts them all on, but she loves it.

There's no denying that this country will give until it hurts—if it gets a badge to prove it.

IN THE SPIRIT OF ST. GEORGE

Right Hon. Lord Queensborough, President of the Royal Society of St. George, in Monthly Message (London)

Of this we may be sure—when a peace offer comes or an invasion is attempted, the collapse of Germany will be in sight. Either will be the last throw of the gambling gangsters of Berlin. It is the duty of our statesmen and of our people to treat either with the same coolness, and not to forget that German conciliation and German belligerency are both to be mistrusted. Whether the Hun says fair words or threatening words, he will be using words as weapons of war—to mislead. The hordes that he can throw against us will not be by any means as terrifying as he will try to make the world believe. His readiness to save his skin by peace approaches will not be by any means the merciful desire to avoid further slaughter that he will try to make the world believe. Neither method is unlikely during the coming summer. Either method is likely with the onset of winter. And by the next spring, with the war effort of America and Canada in full tide, and the Atlantic once again a highway protected from raiding pirates above and below the sea, neither peace approaches nor desperate invasions will serve Berlin, for by then unconditional surrender will be a foregone conclusion to this insane war. That surely, is what Britons must ever keep in mind, and having that ever in mind, they need not shrink from the endurance demanded of them for the next pregnant months.

Solitary confinement makes people queer. And an idea gets that way, too, if confined in a skull without any company.

Parallel Thoughts

Man is born into trouble, as the sparks fly upward.—Job 5:7.

If all the world be worth thy winning, think it worth enjoying.—Dryden.

Elmore Philpott

SOAP-MAKING SERGEANT

A Scottish member of the Canadian Army Service Corps, who got tired of trying to get along with too little soap, argued the army authorities into letting him start his own soapworks. He is now turning out huge quantities of soap at an estimated net profit to the Canadian taxpayer of over $1,000 per month. All this from materials usually wasted.

What happened in this case, and in numerous other cases like it, is the best answer I know to the stock argument that under an economic system where public service and not private profit was the driving force there would be no initiative.

Human beings who have within them that priceless spark—that desire to do things better—will exercise it under any system. The railway worker who thinks of some clever little gadget is neither more or less likely to put it into use because he is working for the C.N.R. and not the C.P.R. The chap who works far into the bowels of the earth in some gold mine and who gets ideas as to how things could be done better does not give the benefit of his brainwork to the company for the benefit of the "owners" in New York. He helps improve things because he is built that way. All his life he will go on doing so if the spark is in him.

LOBLAW STORY

Where Socialism is handicapped, in comparison with private enterprise, is that it is harder for the man with the idea for an improvement to get somebody with the power to say, "All right, go ahead and try it out." I once heard a striking story of how true this can be, even in co-operative enterprises, which are the least bureaucratic of Socialist forms.

In the early days of the United Farmers of Ontario organization there was in the selling office of that co-operative a young man by the name of T. P. Loblaw. The Ontario farmers were worried sick trying to find a way to get their produce to the consumer without finding the larger part of the final price appropriated by the various middlemen who handled the stuff between producer and consumer. Loblaw suggested the setting up of a chain of self-serve shops which would sell not only the U.F.O. farm produce but all the other usual lines of groceries, and on a system then quite novel.

The directors could not make up their minds to say yes. Finally Loblaw quit the organization, went into business for himself, set up his chain of self-serve groceries all over central Canada and part of the United States, and became a multimillionaire.

If the U.F.O. had had the vision to let Loblaw go ahead as he was anxious to do the whole history of the co-operative movement in North America might have been changed. Loblaw happened to have a good idea years before others in the same line of business had it.

We are going to have more socialism whether or not we want it. This Dominion of Canada now has about $250,000,000 invested in some 25 separate war industries—that is actual factories and so forth. We were long since familiar with socialism in action in power developments, the C.N.R. and more lately in the Trans-Canada Airways, which is universally rated as efficient as any in North America, perhaps as efficient as any in the world.

Almost any step made to speed up the war effort, and cut out waste, is a further step toward the same socialism. In Britain, for instance, the first step toward the streamlining of the oil industry was the compulsory merging of 10 competing com-

That is why we had better be giving all the thought we can give to ways and means of encouraging initiative within a set-up where there is bound to be more public enterprise year by year.

Here's hoping that the soap-making staff-sergeant is the forerunner of a whole new generation.

RIGHT TRIUMPHED

From Ottawa Citizen

There are few intelligent Britons who would argue today that in the War of Independence the British Colonists were wrong, George III and his few bureaucrats right. Actually, the most enlightened minds of England were on the side of the Colonists.

In any event, the American Revolution was a fight within the family; one of those fights within the family that have marked the story of the English-speaking progress towards liberty down the centuries. One branch of the family defeated the other branch; right triumphed. Nearly all of the signers of the Declaration of Independence were of British blood. The blood of freedom.

The Declaration of Independence brought no gloom to two of the greatest Englishmen of that day, Pitt and Burke. It brought no gloom to Horace Walpole, who wrote:

"I rejoice that Americans are to be free, as they had a right to be, and as I am sure they deserve to be."

JOHN DEAN WAS THERE

Travel Adventure by Esther Thomson, British Guiana, in Presbyterian Record

We left Georgetown, enjoyed two days at Tukiet. The first morning we climbed up to Kaitet Falls. The easiest way to see the falls is to climb up the mountain range and approach it at the top of the falls. It was quite a steep climb and climbing here is quite different from home because of the heat and moisture.

I looked through the guest book for Canadians and saw four names. One sounded quite interesting. On December 17, 1936, John Dean, Victoria, B.C., at the age of 86 made the trip in good shape. The other three were from Montreal. I saw Rosita Forbes' name and Professor Reginald Coupland, famous historian from Oxford.

HOW THE ARMY DOES THINGS

From Prince George Citizen

There may be other reasons for the slowing up of recruiting, but one is obviously due to bad management on the part of the military authorities, for which the government gets the blame properly belonging to officers in charge.

Take the situation here. Last week the Citizen gave its leading editorial to urging more enlistment from this district. The government also had a large advertisement in this and other weeklies. But the same day the editorial and advertisement were published the recruiting officer and staff left town and closed the office until the 27th of the month. Young men who felt the urge, therefore, to enlist and came to the city were stranded and had no means at all of joining the forces. Are they to be expected to wait around town at their own expense for 15 days? The result is the men return to their jobs and lose the inspiration they enjoyed.

What is the use of military officers requesting citizens' committees and newspapers to aid the necessary task of securing recruits unless they use some common sense in the arrangements? What is the use of advertising that the recruiting office is at Prince George, and immediately closing the office up? One would think they would see the futility of such unbusinesslike arrangements.

Certainly I'm the miracle man of Wall Street. Look in the last two years I haven't lost any money.—George Price, comedian, turning again from Street to stage.

Army Dentists On Mobile Basis

The modern Canadian army dentist, an essential factor in maintaining forces at top efficiency, follows the men he serves wherever they go, dental service officials emphasize.

The streamlined, mobile and self-reliant Canadian Dental Corps of today is being tested and developed under the direction of a man who searched the records of nations and applied the knowledge gathered in years of scientific research to make sure that Canadian forces are little handicapped by dental ailments.

To Col. F. M. Lott, D.D.S., M.Sc. (Dent.), Ph.D., two years ago professor of prosthetic dentistry at the University of Toronto, a Signals officer in the first Great War, and now director of dental services, a bad tooth is a great deal more than a painful nuisance.

"Any tooth with a deep cavity will cause trouble sooner or later—serious trouble," said Col. Lott. "In the South African War, 12 per cent of the total personnel of the British army had to be sent home, pensionable, for dental reasons only."

"In the last war it is estimated that from 2,000 to 5,000 men were looking for a dental officer every day, and that meant almost a complete brigade was immobilized."

"It is the intention of the Canadian Dental Corps to see that such wastage of manpower does not occur again, and to give service of utmost value we must be with the men, wherever they go. In this war there will be no need for long, fruitless searches for a place where a dentist can be found. Our mobile units will be there, prepared to do as good a job looking after teeth as can be had at home in peaceful times."

Officers Promoted

OTTAWA (CP)—Lieut. Col. G. B. Chisholm, Toronto, former commandant of Northern Area, Military District No. 2 (Toronto), has been appointed general staff officer (1st grade), branch of the general staff, it was shown today in army orders.

Maj. C. L. Laurin, Montreal, former deputy records officer,

Military District No. 4 (Montreal), and more recently deputy assistant adjutant general, National Defence Headquarters, was promoted to assistant adjutant-general (personal services), with rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Maj. H. A. P. Francis, Vancouver, who has been a divisional deputy assistant quartermaster-general, was promoted to lieutenant-colonel and appointed assistant adjutant and quartermaster-general.

Sixth Division For First Time

Mobilization of the 6th Canadian Division brings Canada's army to the greatest number of definite divisions in the history of the Dominion.

During the Great War of 1914-1918, Canada had five divisions, the fifth being broken up for reinforcements. When mobilization of the 6th Canadian Division is completed the mobilized divisions of the army will outdistance the famous Canadian Corps of the Great War.

Courses Started

Three hundred selected candidates have been nominated to attend a three-month training course at motor, aero and diesel engine mechanics at the Mechanization Depot in London, Ont.

Thirteen classes, each of 10 candidates, have begun the fourth six-weeks' International Harvester 'Automotive Course'. The classes are located at different centres.

The eight six-weeks' course for cookery instructors has started at the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps training centre at Camp Borden with 40 candidates selected from various commands and districts in attendance.

Mock Wedding Features Garden Fete In Aid of Trawlers Fund

Amused at the antics of the "mock wedding" party are the Misses Betty and Muriel Thatcher, Mrs. F. P. Fease and Mrs. L. W. B. Cotching.

Eight hundred guests enthusiastically applauded a hilarious mock wedding party and a glamorous bathing beauty contest, highlights of the garden party held yesterday afternoon in aid of the Minesweepers' and Trawlers' Fund in the adjoining homes of Mr. Reed Paige Clark, United States consul and Mrs. Clark, and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Semmes, Uplands.

Lieutenant Governor F. W. Hamber and Mrs. Hamber formerly opened the fete, the navy band, which was in attendance at "Riffington," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark, playing the national anthem as they arrived. The 5th (B.C.) Coast Brigade Band enlivened the proceedings at "Robinwood," beautiful summer estate of Mr. and Mrs. Semmes, whose home is in Baltimore, Md.

Chatting on the spacious lawns and patronizing the various booths, the gay crowd made a colorful picture in smart summer print frocks. Many of the guests were visitors from out of town.

A special invitation was given competitors in the seniors golf tournament and their families. Everyone entered gaily into the patriotic spirit of the occasion, and as a result of the generous response, approximately $2,000 was added to the fund for comforts for men engaged in the courageous task of keeping Britain's sea lanes open.

WINGS FOR BRITAIN

At "Riffington" were arranged stalls for home cooking, candy, pop and ice cream and a special "Wings for Britain" booth, selling pins and scarfs with the R.A.F. insignia. Tea was served at tables on the lawn and games were played on the back lawns overlooking the lovely natural bathing pool which adjoins both homes. Bingo, "Hit Hitler" and miniature golf drew great crowds at "Robinwood."

Shrieks of delight greeted the wedding party as it paraded around the lawns, uproarious conjecture taking place as to "who was who." Mrs. Charles E. Wilson announced the muscular bridal attendants over a loud-speaking system. Leading the entourage was Charles E. Wilson, as flower girl, skipping ponderously around the lawn in a pink dotted tulle dress with huge blue bow and butterfly sash, scattering rose petals from a wicker basket. His tulle wig was encircled with a dainty band of forget-me-nots, little blue bows being tied to his knee socks.

Commander J. McCullach, wreathed in white net, with finger coily in mouth, was the demure bride, except when the finger was supplanted with a huge cigar. "She" complained loudly of "her dogs hurting."

"Her" long train was causing trouble for Col. V. McKenzie, train bearer, in yellow frock with enormous blue sash, and mauve and red astors tucked in "her" auburn hair, whose feet periodically planted themselves on it, all but removing the bride's head-dress. Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown was the groom.

Mr. A. M. D. Fairbairn, as the "bridesmaid," wore a pink tulle creation, with an enormous straw picture hat, "worn at the Lieutenant-Governor's garden party in 1900," "she" explained with pride. "She" wore a "robin's nest" wig and carried a giant sheaf of gladioli, tied with a large blue bow. Mr. H. J. Reynolds was best man, Mr. G. Hamilton Harman acted as "father of the bride," and Commander Charles Beard as "father of the groom."

Mr. F. F. Winslow, as "mother of the bride," was outstandingly well camouflaged in a striking mauve lace gown with sable jacket, a wide-brimmed picture hat set on a titian-hued wig, and finger nails laboriously tinted scarlet.

Mr. Reed Paige Clark, as the mother of the groom, looked very dignified in a long black and gold lame tight-fitting evening gown with a black picture hat and copious brown wig.

BATHING BEAUTY CONTEST

Miss Diana Macdowell as Miss Spitfire, won the bathing beauty contest from a most attractive "field" of debutantes, wearing ribbons bearing names of ships and war figures. The other contestants were: Miss Bundles for Britain, Miss Jean MacDonald; Miss Hurricane, Miss Elizabeth Martin; Miss TNT, Miss Priscilla Wright; Miss Cruiser, Miss Ann Critchley; Miss Blitzkrieg, Miss Ann Ridewood; Miss Minesweeper, Mrs. Andrew Wright; Miss Pat Bay, Miss Gwen Gaze of Hollywood; Miss Subchaser, Miss Catherine MacDonald; Miss Blackout, Miss Diana Ker; Miss Anti-Aircraft, Miss Daphne Ker; Miss Churchill, Mrs. Ralph Skelton; Miss Trawler, Miss Marilyn Stearns of Los Angeles; Miss Hope Denbigh, as Miss Royal Roads, was garbed in a black and white gingham "bloomer suit" of the 1900's, complete with long black stockings and knitting bag.

Major F. V. Longstaff, introduced by Commander Beard as a "mannequin washed up by the sea," walked among the crowd wearing samples of the knitted articles supplied to the men overseas by the Minesweepers and Trawlers Fund, including sea boot stockings, Indian sweater, scarf and Mellor string gloves.

The committee responsible for arrangements for the affair included Mrs. R. P. Clark, Mrs. J. W. Benning, Mrs. J. Sutherland

Lady Diana Can Stop Pig, Milk Cow

NEW YORK (AP) — Lady Diana Duff Cooper is headed toward Singapore happy in the knowledge that when war comes a fair and titled lady can stop a pig and milk a cow and make a mighty fine cheese.

The former Lady Diana Manners, once hailed as Britain's most beautiful actress, attested to these talents while pausing here en route to Singapore with her husband, Alfred Duff Cooper, former Minister of Information, who was assigned to a new mission in the Far East.

ALL-DAY FARMING

All this summer she said in an interview, she has been up bright and early at her cottage on Bogner Beach for a day of down-to-earth farming.

A friend came down to the country to teach her the tricks of the trade, and then she took up the task of playing wartime maid to a cow, two goats, six pigs, 30 hens and two beehives.

Part of the milk was used by evacuees who lived at the cottage with her—two mothers and six children.

MAKES CHEESE

Every day she said, she made a cheese, sort of a cheddar, for winter consumption and found that her ability improved with experience.

During the afternoon she drove the rounds of the countryside to collect garbage for her pigs because "England has always depended on concentrated foods for livestock and now that that is heavily rationed, we go out and pick up scraps for them."

"Wartime in England isn't as terrible as it sounds. One gets used to everything, and then there's the feeling of working close together."

Traditional Luxury

Yes! Canterbury is excellent tea
...but notice its money-saving price!

English families in the early 1700's were so particular about their tea that many of the ladies went by sedan chair to the importing shops and personally selected their blends.

Today, critical tea drinkers choose Canterbury because it, too, has old-world luxury and a deep rich flavor.

A noble blend, this Canterbury! Its choice leaves are the pick of famous crops . . . and their lusty goodness reaches you securely sealed in Canterbury's inner-lined rigid carton.

But look at the sensible everyday price on this luxury tea. That's because your grocer orders direct from the importer and avoids many in-between expenses. The savings are yours!

Yes! We recommend Canterbury highly, guarantee it fully. But you be the judge! Unless you like everything about this tea it won't cost a penny.

seminators of poisonous, false, subversive and evil doctrines." Reader, what think you? As for me, I feel certain that the enterprising commissary has overreached himself. I refuse to think that his most accommodating "Lord God of Hosts" could be so fickle-minded. The same deity, in whose name this latest proclamation is issued, has for years past been issuing similar proclamations, abolishing all parliaments toto coelo. Now he has so far relented as to grant them a new lease of life, but demands that they be "purified"—presumably with purgatives and disinfectants supplied by the "Board of Guidance."

No such indulgence is to be granted to the "teachers, college professors and disseminators of evil doctrines, subversive of the theocratic state." We are all to be "swept away" from our pulpits and seats of learning—the federation, no doubt, furnishing brooms and scrubbing brushes! Our pulpits, when duly purged and fumigated, will be filled by "Apostles of the New World Order," who are, in the commissary's judgment, "the most eminent men in the Empire." Their catalogue lists some scores of them.

A SPECIALLY TRAINED RACE

The phrase is Madame Coley's—a lady worthily esteemed. You, sir, with keen discernment, have selected the most pregnant phrase in a compendious argument, for the caption thereof. You have been well advised in giving us her defence (for such we must esteem it) in its entirety. Often, as she wrote, must Hamlet's plaint have recurred to her mind: "The times are out of joint; alas, that ever I was born to set them right!"

An old Hibernicism reminds us that "one purpose of language is to conceal truth." There is a large element of truth in it; else how can we safeguard our speech from false conclusions or from conclusions which we do not wish to be drawn. Madame has studied the art and mastered it.

As your readers read this article of hers, they no doubt recalled a press letter from the same lady, urging that "the Stalin-Hitler compact released Britain from her pledge to Poland, and made it her imperative duty to come to terms with Hitler and thus bring peace to the troubled nations."

In view of the then recent past and, yet more, of the now intervening future, our minds refuse to entertain the fancy that a lady who writes so authoritatively on forecasts of the future, knew not that her appeasement policy, if acted upon, would assuredly involve "storing up wrath against the day of wrath." Her ulterior motive is clearly perceptible only in the light (?) of B-I propaganda.

FRED T. TAPSCOTT.

FINLAND

In the Kaleidoscope of chaos Finland stands out conspicuously for the eccentricity of her career. In America for years she has been invidiously held up as a model to Britain and Europe for paying her very small debt with regularity.

Only a year or so ago Britain herself vied with America in admiring Finland as a noble example to a submissive world. So nearly unanimous was democratic opinion that protest was useless. Yet many could then have told another story if they could only have got a hearing. To those who knew, "Finland" should have read "Mannerheim," then as now. Turn up his record and see what that meant. Something not so different from Hitler and Franco.

More than once the democracies have had "another think coming," and never more strikingly than in this case: For the other day Britain attacked Finland and Hopkins was at Moscow.

Letters to the Editor

BRITISH-ISRAELISM 'A MENACE'

The arraignment of British-Israelism in Toronto's Saturday Night was almost a replica of the report of the Dies Committee to the U.S. Congress. Charges of "Fifth Column" and "Defeatist" activities were described in both editorial and report, as "constituting a grave menace to military effort, and a genuine source of danger to the realm."

It has been urged that no attempt was made to substantiate the charges. Surely none was needed. Fresh in the minds of every citizen was the manifesto dated to Mr. Churchill and Lord Beaverbrook on June 22, from the Toronto headquarters of the Canadian B-I World Federation. Couched in the imperative mood, the cable issued instruction: "On no account allow British forces to be drawn in. Remember—Russia is the enemy also, and will finally be disclosed in the attack on Palestine. The threat was amplified by a reference to Gog and Magog, Scythian tribes who had been liquidated, to the last man, while Christ was in His boyhood."

Such arrogance on the part of these would-be world changers is not exceptional. Their constitution prescribes as the first articles on their agenda: "To give guidance to political, commercial, educational and religious institutions, et alia usque ad nauseam!"

FATALISM

A week before the Russo-British Alliance was framed, our local president, E. W. Abraham, issued a final warning to "the powers that be," setting forth its futility and the dread consequences. His rejoinder to the charge of "defeatism" was the inculcation of fatalism: "God has a plan which He is working out for the good of mankind, in spite of anything we may do against it. It is useless for us to keep on saying, 'They shall not pass!' unless we do the things necessary to stop their advance. One of these things is to get back to God and to His Book which contains the complete answer to every question we need to know for the defeat of the enemy! We must clean our own house before we can hope for God's full help to defeat the enemy which is ours only incidentally!"

For the last five years, ever since an accident brought to a close my own pulpit ministry, I have studied, carefully and prayerfully, the week-end advertisements of the city churches. They are still on my file. There are from three to five B-I lectures every week. An evangelical sermon is something quite unknown! Every orthodox British-Israelite believes and proclaims that the nation per se is reconverted and redeemed! God and His Book, forsooth!

'CLEANING HOUSE'

The Dominion commissioner has given us a graphic picture of the house-cleaning which Mr. Abraham calls for. You shall have it verbatim. He issues, "in the name of the Lord God of Hosts, a demand for the purification of all legislative assemblies and the sweeping away from their pulpits and seats of learning of the false shepherds, dis-

UNLESS the officials throw a monkey wrench into the proceedings when decisions are rendered on one protest and one appeal from a protest ruling, the current box lacrosse play-off between the Alerts and Jokers will be decided tomorrow night. The game should be a thriller, providing both clubs take the floor with their complete line-ups. Much to our surprise the boys played a game Tuesday night without a protest being filed. Alerts were much the better, but it must be remembered the Jokers were forced to turn out missing three of their ranking members. It is to be hoped each club will be at full strength for the clincher, then there will be no chance for the loser to alibi.

Looking over the weights announced for the $10,000 Long-acre mile to be run at the Washington strip on August 24, we notice that George Irvine, well-known Vancouver racing owner, has his two stars, Over Drive and Palmera T., nominated. The former will pack 113 pounds and Palmera T. 106. When talking to Irvine here some time ago he expressed doubt either one of his horses would start in the 10 grand stake. Leo Bancroft, another prominent Vancouver owner, has nominated his Cooperstown which drew 102 pounds. Top weighted thoroughbreds in the race will be Sweepida and No Competition, each being asked to carry 128 pounds. Mount Vernon will be weighed down with 123 pounds, and Anthology and Brodeca each with 121 if they face the starter.

Do you want to become a great golfer? Listen to Ben Hogan, who has been "in the money" in 50-odd successive tournaments; who finished in a tie for third in the U.S. open and who was voted the greatest shotmaker in the business by his fellow stars. "There is no secret, magic way. It's a matter of long hours and hard practice. After a fellow masters his practice shots he tunes them, then, to competitive play. Frequently the shots that are good in practice are no good in competition, because the players go to pieces under pressure. "So it's just practice, practice, practice. And then compete, compete, compete."

Pitzer-Nex in Final

It will be Pitzer and Nex vs. Eagles in the deciding play-off for the city baseball championship. Last night at the Athletic Park the former ended the reign of the Tillium Athletics when they registered an 11 to 3 victory in the third and deciding game of their preliminary series.

The gasmen sent Ray Maitland to the mound and he held the Tilliums to six hits. Although he struck out three and walked four, Maitland got errorless support from his teammates and was never in serious trouble during the nine innings.

After taking a three-run lead in the fifth inning, Pitzer and Nex kept adding to their margin. Leading the gasmen's attack were third baseman Harper and second sacker Barnswell, the former with four hits and Barnswell with three. Harper's safeties included a pair of doubles.

Louis Leonard opened in the box for the Tilliums, but was relieved by Ray Casey in the fifth. The pair allowed 13 hits. Tilliums also had a bad night in the field with five errors chalked against them.

In the second division play-off game last night the Eagles made it two straight over the Navy, winning 10 to 2. Stan Curry was the winning pitcher.

Short score: R. H. E. Pitzer and Nex 11 13 0 Tilliums 3 6 5 Batteries—Maitland and Cosier; Leonard, Casey and Kuwaba.

Hunt's Garage put the first crimp of the season into the style of Cardinals and took them into camp in the opening game of the city women's softball play-offs at Sidney last night. The score was 11 to 8 and marked the end of an 11-game winning streak by the Cardinals. The second game will be played tomorrow evening at Central Park.

It was a six-run spurge in the fourth inning when the score was tied at 2 to 2 that won the game for the garage girls. They pounded Mary Lewington, starting pitcher for the Cards, right off the hillock. Mary McCulloch, who replaced her, pitched steady ball for the rest of the game, allowing only three runs. In the sixth inning Cardinals came back with a four-run attack.

Second of the best-of-three series between V.M.D. and Chinese Recreation Club will come off tonight at Athletic Park. The Chinese won Tuesday's game from the Machinery Depot and will take the series if they win tonight.

Playing in an exhibition game the V.L.A.-Causeway Service softball club will travel to Sidney this evening to meet the R.C.A.F. at 6.30.

"That's what good golfers are made of."

The New York Yankees win baseball pennants because they have adequate pitching and fielding, and the hardest punch in baseball.

No team with a two or three-run advantage in the ninth inning can afford to feel too optimistic, for the Yanks are dangerous until the last out. Any man in the line-up can explode a triple or homer.

Other teams boast a higher squad batting average, but the Yanks are far out front in homers, runs batted in, and total bases. Where other teams may get their scores in ones or twos, the Yanks often get theirs in clusters of three and four.

The Yanks are leading both leagues in homers and runs batted in, with Joe DiMaggio and Charley Keller setting the individual pace. They have players who can spark the club, as DiMaggio did with his record-breaking consecutive contest hitting streak.

New York doesn't possess a single great pitcher this year, but it has a large squad of good pitchers with the veteran Red Ruffing first with 13 victories. Manager Joe McCarthy has used nine starting pitchers, and in a recent nine-game stretch McCarthy has used eight different starters and won eight games. He has a crack pair of left-handers in Marius Russo and Vernon Gomez.

It's a good defensive club. Joe Gordon is regarded by many as baseball's best second baseman, and DiMaggio as the No. 1 outfielder. Bill Dickey still is tops as a catcher. Phil Rizzuto and Gordon are threatening the league double-play record.

The Yankees, too, have a habit of coming up with at least one star rookie every year. There was DiMaggio in 1936, Gordon in 1938, Keller and Atley Donald in 1939, Elmer Bonham in 1940 and Rizzuto in 1941.

So, you can't tag a single factor and say that's what makes the Yankees click. It's a combination of all things, starting with the scouts and going through the farm system, crack players, competent managers, good morale, power, pitching and fielding.

Port Alberni Fish Derby

$500 in Cash Prizes

Nonresidents of Port Alberni come into their glory between August 15 and September 30 when the Tyee Club of the upland town will divide $500 among the out-of-town fishermen landing the largest tyee salmon. First prize will be $200, second award $100 and third prize $75.

This event is being run separately from the annual local tyee competition of the Port Alberni Club and is one in which citizens of the west coast city cannot participate. The prizes will be awarded for the largest fish caught in the six-week period.

Dodgers Bounce Back

Half Game Behind

A 10th-inning single by Frank McCormick of the Cincinnati Reds cut the precarious lead of St. Louis Cardinals in the National League to half a game last night.

The Reds scored a tight 3 to 2 victory over the on-again leaders while the Brooklyn Dodgers, other end of the teeter-totter leadership, beat the Phillies 7 to 2. So, St. Louis, now on the road for the toughest tour of the season, which will take the Cards to every city in the circuit, are resting an uneasy half game ahead of the Dodgers.

The Dodgers' victory, which also was Curt Davis' eighth of the season, marked Dolph Camilli's 23rd homer of the season. A ninth-inning flurry of five runs enabled Chicago Cubs to come from behind to score a 6 to 4 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates.

In the other senior league games, New York Giants and Boston Braves split a doubleheader. Giants took the opener 7 to 6, and Braves the nightcap 3 to 1.

In the American League the New York Yankees and Washington Senators split the other doubleheader of the day, the Nats taking the first game 5 to 3 and the Yanks the nightcap 5 to 1.

Meanwhile the second-place Cleveland Indians bowed to St. Louis Browns 9 to 3. Benny Galehouse allowed the Indians their three runs in the first inning and then proceeded to hold them scoreless the rest of the game and allowed only eight hits.

Scoring a 4 to 0 shutout over Philadelphia Athletics, the Boston Red Sox climbed to a game and a half below the Indians.

In the other American League game Buck Newsom scored his ninth victory as Detroit defeated Chicago White Sox 4 to 1.

COAST LEAGUE

Dewey Soriano, Seattle's home-grown pitching recruit, took the measure of Hollywood last night in the seven-inning nightcap and pitched a 7 to 0 shutout, first in his professional baseball experience. Soriano's feat was the more significant that it ended up the evening's doubleheader, the initial game of which Hollywood took 9 to 1, on 14 hits, including three successive triples by Frenchy Uhalt.

Portland Beavers beat the Oakland Oaks 7 to 2, and then the Oaks beat the Beavers 4 to 3. Sacramento stretched its sizeable leadership another notch by topping San Francisco for the second successive night 3 to 1, while second-place San Diego was bowing to Los Angeles 10 to 1. Los Angeles and San Diego are

Langford Auto Races Saturday

Fourteen cars and every one of them raring to go, is what the British Columbia Automotive Sports Association promises this Saturday night at another international program of auto races at the Langford Speedway.

Other American drivers and cars will be Don Olds of Seattle who will be at the wheel of No. 7; John Small, Seattle, whose car will be the No. 8; Bob Brinton, New Mexico, who will throttle the No. 34; Bud Nelson, Seattle, who will drive No. 9 and Al Taylor, Seattle, who will have charge of the No. 62 car.

Victoria drivers and cars were reported ready for the show which will start at 7.45 with the time trials. A helmet dash, heat races and main event of 30 laps will be included in the program.

Members of the B.C. Salvage Corps will be on hand to collect articles made of aluminum which patrons have been asked to take with them.

George Beck Again Heads Game Group

NANAIMO—George Beck, Victoria, was re-elected president; J. Blower, Port Alberni, vice-president, and R. H. Meldrum, Victoria, secretary (re-elected), of the Vancouver Island Affiliated Fish and Game Protective Associations at the annual meeting here.

At the request of the Cowichan association the meeting decided to write the Game Commission asking that provision be made in the Game Act to make it lawful for a parent, guardian or responsible adult to take a boy of from 12 years up into the woods during the hunting season to teach him the use of firearms, with no license to be required for the junior, as only one gun could be used. Commissioner J. Cunningham of the Game Board, and guest of the meeting, stated there was little doubt that the request would be granted, but that the word "adult" would mean a person over 21 years.

The secretary reported a balance of $70.09 on hand. The president, on accepting re-election, said the association was the most important of the island, irrespective of service clubs, and he urged still closer co-operation.

Committee Named

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of a three-man British Columbia construction control committee is announced by C. Blake Jackson, deputy priorities officer in charge of civilian construction control in the Munitions and Supply Department.

Duties of this committee will be to investigate, on behalf of the priorities branch, requests from British Columbia for building licenses to be granted, and to recommend issuance of licenses when, in the opinion of the commission, they are warranted.

Members of the committee will be E. F. Bruke, chairman; W. C. Dittmars and H. N. MacPhers, all of Vancouver; R. J. Lecky, secretary of the Building and Construction Industries Exchange of British Columbia, will act as secretary of the committee which will have headquarters in Vancouver. All will serve without remuneration.

Jackson said the building industry in general is not sufficiently aware of the regulations making it compulsory for the owner to apply for a license from the civilian construction control office before undertaking a construction contract of $10,000 or more, an alteration contract of more than $2,500, or a contract of $5,000 or more for installation of machinery and equipment.

U.S. Bombers Spread Terror in Germany

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON (AP)—Britain's new aerial weapon, the American-made Fortress bomber, is spreading fear and contributing to an awakened spirit of revolt in Germany and occupied Europe, say dispatches reaching important quarters in London by devious means.

The remorseless pounding of Germany by the huge planes which fly out of sight and sound of their victims and the stubborn resistance of the Russian armies are allowing a seething resentment and anger to come to the surface from Norway to Italy. These quarters said.

Informed circles say these reports may indicate the first break in the German crust, but warn that it would be premature to expect open revolts this summer or autumn.

One source with a secret means of communication in central Europe said reports were being spread by word of mouth from end to end of Germany of the lethal power of the American-made Fortress bombers.

"People are frightened by what they cannot see," he said. "The Germans cannot see the damage they do. This silent, invisible weapon terrifies not only civilians in Germany, but garrisons in the occupied nations."

The fact they are known to be from the vast industrial resources of the United States contributes to the undermining of morale, it was said.

A winter of stalemate on the eastern front and heavy bombing from the Royal Air Force, most British and neutral observers expect, will increase the distaste for a longer war in Germany and her satellite states.

Although Norway and the Netherlands have been the scenes of the most spectacular opposition to the Nazis, some sources expect that the greatest upheaval in public opinion will occur in France.

One Free French source said, "don't forget there still are some arms and ammunition in unoccupied France. When the French decide to use them, blood will run and it will not be German blood either."

New Explosive May Wreck Everything in 100 Miles

FALLS VILLAGE, Conn. (AP)

John J. O'Neill, president of the National Association of Science Writers, said the United States government has "clapped a censorship" on laboratories developing an element which, if contained in a 10-pound bomb "would blast a hole 25 miles in diameter and more than a mile deep, and would wreck every structure within 100 miles."

The science editor of the New York Herald-Tribune asserted in an address at the Housatonic Valley conference that the administration "is staging a totalitarian revolution against the American people."

He said scientists recently had discovered the method of releasing energy from the uranium atom, and after attributing terrific destructive power to a 10-pound missile of uranium 235, asked:

"Can we trust our politicians and war makers with a weapon like that? The answer is, no. Nevertheless, our politicians have taken over control of the scientists who have been working on the application and control of this discovery and are driving them to develop it for war uses. "They have clapped a censorship in the scientific laboratories where this work is being done and no scientist dares to discuss what he is doing."

Japs Seize Mission

SHANGHAI (AP)—Japanese

seizure of the American southern Presbyterian mission hospital and other property of the mission at Tsingkiangpu and the virtual imprisonment of American physicians and missionaries there, was charged here tonight in reports received by Presbyterian mission executives.

Tsingkiangpu is in northern Kiangsu province, in which Shanghai is situated, and the report was brought here by Chinese courier.

Americans at the mission include three men and six women.

The alleged Japanese action was called retaliation for Washington's freezing of Japanese assets in the United States.

The seizure was said to have occurred July 31 when 40 Japanese military police went to the American hospital and forced the Americans to concentrate in a residence on mission property where they since have been held incommunicado.

The report said Chinese physicians and others attached to the mission were held for a while in another residence, but later released.

Canadian Scots Eager For Front Line Duty

By ROY THORSEN

TRURO—Men of the newest edition of Vancouver Island's "Ladies From Hell"—the 1st Battalion the Canadian Scottish Regiment—primed for action after nearly two years of intensive training—are eager to take their place in the front line of World War No. 2 to carry on the brilliant record of its parent, the old 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment of the 1914-18 struggle.

Members of the new and streamlined, modernized unit trained for blitz warfare edition, do not wear the colorful kilt dress of the Fighting 16th, which won their predecessors the label of the "Ladies From Hell," but are determined to give Hitler and company just as much hell as their "daddy" regiment gave the Kaiser.

IN FINE SHAPE

The 1st Battalion boys, bronzed by summer suns and hardened by stiff training under severe eastern winter conditions, are fully equipped physically for the job ahead of them. And when the finishing touches to their training have been added in England they should make an excellent addition to the Canadian fighting forces in the theatre of war, now estimated at almost 100,000.

The battalion is composed of a fine class of red-blooded manhood.

He hails from all sections of the working world. He comes from the trawlers in B.C.'s northland; the coal and mineral mines. He comes off the fishboats which prey on the schools of sea food off the west coast; from logging camps, paper and lumber mills. He comes from the farm and cattle ranch and many other phases of the labor ranks.

The youngest in the unit has just finished school and had not advanced into the working class. He who comes from jobs which called for white collars in the city business and professional world number quite a few.

While the unit originated on Vancouver Island it is not exclusively composed of island material by any means. There are many islanders, including Victorians, in the ranks, but Vancouver and the Okanagan Valley are also very well represented. There are many others in the 1,000 who have home addresses in other parts of the province, but the prairies, Ontario and other parts of the Dominion have representation in the battalion.

What is his nationality? Majority are true Canadians who love their country and don't want to see anything spoil it. Many are Canadian by birth; quite a number by adoption. Norwegians are plentiful, many with distinct homeland accents. There are other Scandinavians, English, Irish, Scotch, a German or two, one Chinese, several first Canadians (the Indian), Americans, Russians, Ukrainians and other nationalities make up the population of the First.

It might be wondered why the average man in the unit answered the call to the colors. . . . Some did it out of patriotic reasons. . . . Many because here was an opportunity for a big helping of adventure in its toughest form. . . . He in the battalion who comes directly or indirectly from the countries which have been trodden by the Hitler boot are out to avenge the wrong done their homelands.

For the most part the 1941 edition Scotty is a young man. Youth predominates—but scattered here and there are the older warriors with World War I ribbons. He is just as physically fit and spry as the younger fry. He is anxious to clean up the mess left unfinished last time.

HE'S VERSATILE

The average Scotty is a happy-go-lucky sort of individual. He likes to laugh. He likes the life he has been used to living and is in uniform to retain "his way of living"—the free and happy way. He likes his beer and loves to sing and he can make the vocal chords really sound off. He is as good as the next at pitching woo with the ladies.

He is clannish, the average "offspring" of the daddy 16th. "Stick together—no matter what" is his motto. No Scotty stands idly by twiddling his thumbs when a fellow glen-wearer is outnumbered in a scuffle.

In the army he is a good-living man. He leads the most sensible life he has ever lived. Early to bed (10:15) and early to rise (6 or earlier), says army regulations. He adheres to that and in addition gets good, stiff training in the outdoors and substantial food—so how can he help but feel good and healthy? He isn't a rowdy person. He is red-blooded and you might see him a little boisterous on a payday blowout, but after that he settles down (broke or with coffee nickel or two) to good living again.

He is a smart man on parade, illustrating good discipline. Guiding and coaching him is a fine set of officers (mostly Victorian), the majority being young, active men; the others older and with last war experience in their favor.

The new edition Scotty has learned much of modern warfare in his two-year service, but he has learned a lot more than just learning to fight, too. He has learned to cook his own grub. He has been forced to sew and wash his clothes, and has benefited from it. Cleanliness is drilled into him constantly with the result he lives in spotlessly clean barrack rooms and maintains a high standard in his personal appearance.

For many weeks of late he has been put through a tough training schedule. An example of what his training consists of is the "little" scheme which he went through the other day. It kept him on his feet constantly for 28 hours, in which time he marched around 30 miles and some of that on the double (during mook attacks). In addition he traveled more than 25 miles in transport trucks. He was awakened at 3 in the morning and by 6 was on his way into the country for the scheme and did not get back to his bed until 7 the next morning. In spite of his good condition the average man (officer and private) who participated had to admit they were a little weary after such a program.

POLITICS

DEWDNEY TORY

R. S. McDonald, reeve of Coquitlam, was chosen by a Conservative meeting at Mission last night to represent the party in Dewdney riding. His choice was unanimous. D. W. Strachan, Liberal, was the member in the Legislature recently dissolved.

SUPPORTED

The Vancouver District Labor Council has voted to support its secretary, Harold J. Pritchett, as Independent candidate for Vancouver Centre in the forthcoming provincial election. Attorney-General G. S. Wismer, Liberal, and Mrs. L. E. Jamieson, C.C.F., represented the riding in the last B.C. Legislature.

The motion was carried by a 14 to 3 vote at a meeting after James Thompson, Inland Boatmen's Union delegate, told the council that "this is a time when all working class votes should be given to a progressive candidate."

Transit Controller Gets Wide Powers

OTTAWA (CP)—W. J. Lynch of Quebec has been appointed transit controller, with "wide-spread powers over all forms of transportation throughout Canada."

He will have power to establish tables or schedules of fares or rates to be charged by transport companies and authority to issue, re-issue, or cancel permits or licenses, and prohibit, restrict, limit or extend the parking of vehicles.

Empowered to stagger working hours to relieve transportation congestion, Mr. Lynch may order any employer to arrange or alter the hours of employment of employees in order to assure that such proportions as the controller may fix will, as far as possible, arrive at, or depart from their places of employment at such times as may be directed.

Until recently, Mr. Lynch was assistant general manager of the Quebec Power Company. His office as transport controller will be in Montreal.

But Canadian housewives coast to coast vote the same way about breakfast flavour

However longshoremen may differ from lumberjacks, or dentists from oil-drillers, or druggists from miners, one thing is certain! Their families agree on flavour! During the last three years, more than 5000 women from coast to coast have been asked: "What is your family's favourite cereal?" And each year the overwhelming majority voted for Kellogg's Corn Flakes!

When asked specifically, "Which brand of corn flakes do you think tastes best?" four out of five said "Kellogg's!"

Treat your family to Kellogg's, too. Watch them enjoy Kellogg's distinctive flavour. And remember, lustier appetites mean better digestion! Try Kellogg's too, for between-meal and bedtime snacks.

Be sure to get several packages of Kellogg's Corn Flakes tomorrow. In restaurants, ask for the triple-wrapped individual package. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

THE SELF-STARTER BREAKFAST is economical too. Costs only a few pennies a serving for the whole family. Now in two convenient sizes. Get whichever is most suitable for your family.

SWING INTO IT! It's tough work—unloading cargoes—and takes real energy. From Halifax to Vancouver, wives of hard-working men tell us the same thing:—Kellogg's Corn Flakes are the family's favourite breakfast.

DIETITIANS TELL US . . . when food makes your mouth water, it starts the gastric juices flowing, digests so much better. Flavour experts and housewives agree that Kellogg's exclusive flavour is "top" for tempting breakfast appetites.

INDIAN CHARGED

MERRITT (CP)—Louis Oppenheim, 35-year-old Indian of the nearby Coldwater reservation is charged by Provincial Police with the murder of his common-law wife, Lena Boston, after a coroner's jury decided the 30-year-old Indian woman met "death by violence" at the hands of a person or persons unknown.

Lena's body was found, partly disrobed, Monday night at the side of a road after Oppenheim told Police Chief R. Dryburgh she had been beaten. Police said she died of head injuries.

Evidence at the inquest disclosed a drinking party, in which a number of Indians took part, preceded the death of the Indian woman.

Police said a fight took place and later the Indians dispersed. Lena was not seen again until her body was discovered in the bush at the scene of the drinking party after Oppenheim advised police to investigate.

Tomorrow morning the arbitration board, headed by J. Howard Harman, will deal with the case of the Veterans' Sightseeing and Transportation Company and its Victoria drivers.

R.A.F. to Operate Centre on Island

Air crews of the Royal Air Force now completing courses in Canadian and United States schools will receive final training at an advanced training centre being developed on Vancouver Island.

An advance force of officers and men already has arrived at the field, where spacious hangars, barracks and drill sheds have been springing up rapidly and where runways are being rushed to completion for use when training aircraft arrive.

The school, known as No. 32 Operational Training Unit, will be one of the largest in Canada. Attending it will be pilots, air observers, wireless operators and air gunners who have received their elementary and service flying training in Canada, and pilots trained in United States. The British air crews, after a strenuous training period, will be ready to operate some of Britain's most deadly aerial equipment, and it is expected they then will proceed overseas.

Present commanding officer of the R.A.F. detachment is Wing Commander B. H. Jones of London. He will be succeeded when the school is opened by Group Captain Robertson, at present officer commanding another R.A.F. training unit in Canada.

STEEL IN WRECK, SHIP IS DELAYED

Not only were the rolling mills running slightly behind in deliveries, but a train wreck put a spoke in the speed-up program of the local shipbuilding plants.

Part of the keel-plate of Hull 67, first of ten 9,300-ton steel freighters being built by Yarrows Ltd. for the Dominion government, was in position at the new Esquimalt shipbuilding plant today and the firm is now waiting for further deliveries.

It was learned at the plant this morning that the reason for the delay was the wrecking of a freight car while en route to the coast.

May Dispose Of Peacocks

Steps to silence or dispose of peacocks and cranes in Beacon Hill Park will be taken, it is expected, as the result of instructions given to Parks Superintendent W. H. Warren yesterday at a meeting of the City Council parks committee.

The superintendent was asked to see if any individuals or municipalities would like to purchase the peacocks; to find out what could be done humanely to silence them, and to ask Cecil French, bird life authority, what could be done about the cranes. Several complaints have been received about the screeching of the birds.

At the outset of the meeting, presided over by Alderman S. H. O'Neil, H. G. Lawson said there were about 40 birds in the park which he claimed were a nuisance. He appeared on behalf of Mrs. C. M. Forrest and tenants of Tweedsmuir Mansions.

The committee agreed action should be taken to prevent children from bicycling through the wading pools at Central and Beacon Hills Parks, and from throwing stones in the water. Mr. Warren reported the water in the pools was changed twice weekly and that the pools were thoroughly disinfected, and Dr. Richard Felton, city medical health officer, said no communicable diseases had been traced to water in the pools.

Alderman Burges Gadsden and Mr. Warren were asked to report on the cost of painting power and telephone poles along Quadra Street to the city limits, and on Douglas Street to the waterfront. It also was decided to obtain estimates on the cost of picnic tables and benches for Beacon Hill Park.

Mr. Warren said about $1,000 would be needed to cut off dead limbs and treat damage on large oak trees in the park.

Pattullo to Visit Northern Riding

Premier Pattullo will leave tonight for the mainland and will go north to Prince Rupert, his home riding, tomorrow night.

The Premier is expected to be away about 10 days. His office said he does not plan any public meetings in Prince Rupert.

Bank clearings in Victoria for the week ending August 14 were $1,660,793. This compares with $1,691,035 for the corresponding period last year.

Seniors' Golf

Loudon and Schwengers In Finals Tomorrow

It will be an international final tomorrow for the grand championship of the 19th annual Senior Northwest Golf Association tournament at Oak Bay. In today's semifinals, Bernie Schwengers, Victoria, champion in 1937, defeated R. E. Thatcher, Seattle, 2 up, while Dr. J. P. Loudon, Yakima, defending champion, eliminated R. E. Campbell, Seattle, 1 up.

Tomorrow's match will be over 18 holes, starting at 10. Campbell and Thatcher, who lost their matches, today were co-medalists.

To continue his bid for two successive championships, Dr. Loudon uncorked a splendid round of 71, two over par. He was out in 32, one under, and back in 39. Campbell also played fine golf, carding 36-39-75. On the first nine Loudon reeled off five consecutive threes, starting on the fifth, and was 2 up at the turn.

The 10th and 11th were halved with Campbell winning the 12th. The Seattle veteran squared the match by taking the 13th, but Loudon rallied to regain the lead with a par three at the 14th. A birdie three won Loudon the 15th while the 16th was halved in par fours. A birdie four gave Campbell the 17th and the 18th was halved in par fours, leaving the Yakima doctor 1 up.

GREAT STRUGGLE

Schwengers and Thatcher engaged in a bitter match, with the Victorian rallying to win after being 1 down at the ninth. Schwengers was out in 37 and back in 40 for a well-played 77, with Thatcher carding 44-36-80. A lapse in Thatcher's usually reliable putter on the last few holes cost him a spot in the final.

After finishing nine holes 1 down, Schwengers squared the match on the 10th with a par four. The next two holes were halved, with Thatcher taking the 13th with a par three to go 1 up again. Schwengers put the pressure on the capture the next three holes and he was 2 up on the 17th tee. Thatcher's par five won him the 17th to carry the match to the final green. On the last hole both had fair putts for par fours but Thatcher missed, to lose the match 2 down.

The cards for the matches follow:

Loudon—	52 55 53 33 33—32
Out—	45 63 33 45 4—39—71
Campbell—	52 45 55 43 3—36
Out—	45 54 44 44 4—39—75
Schwengers—	53 55 44 43 4—37
Out—	45 54 35 46 4—40—77
Thatcher—	62 45 45 34 3—36
Out—	55 53 56 55 5—44—80

Never Too Old To Fly, She Says

When Mrs. M. Garner of Vining Street, returned from her trip north in the Union Steamships steamer Cardena she was probably the oldest in years and the youngest in heart to have made the coastwise excursion.

As Mrs. Garner was leaving here to catch the Northbound Cardena she arrived at the wharf to see the Vancouver-bound steamer sailing out of the harbor.

Walter Miles, local agent for the Union Steamships Ltd. offered to refund the passage money, but Mrs. Garner was resolved to make the trip.

"You'll have to have wings to catch that boat," said Mr. Miles jokingly. The elderly lady was immediately interested, replying with "could I fly?"

Obliquely, Mr. Miles phoned Chris Thompson, dispatcher for Canadian Airways Ltd., for which he is also agent, and secured the last available seat in the plane.

As Mrs. Garner was being ticketed Mr. Miles asked "would you consider me impertinent to ask how old you are?"

"Eighty-seven," the lady promptly replied, "and I've been waiting for an excuse to fly for a long time."

Mrs. Garner flew to Vancouver, caught the boat, and thoroughly enjoyed the experience of her first flight and her originally-planned cruise.

BEAVERBROOK SLEEPS IN SHOW

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Lord Beaverbrook, British Minister of Supply, visited his old home town of Newcastle, N.B., and later came to Moncton before leaving for Washington.

Lord Beaverbrook was born in Ontario but grew up at Newcastle.

He spent last night in a Moncton hotel after meeting old friends in Newcastle. He was accompanied by Morris W. Wilson, president of the Royal Bank of Canada, and W. A. Harrington, United States lease-lend coordinator in London.

Lord Beaverbrook's friendly personality was manifested at the Moncton Hotel, where he appeared as just another guest and talked genially with those around him.

He visited a motion picture theatre and was instantly recognized. The British statesman was tired, fell asleep during the performance and returned to his hotel before the show ended.

At breakfast this morning he appeared much refreshed. His presence in Moncton was not made public officially.

He declined to see newspapermen and had no statement to make regarding his visit or how long he planned to remain on this side of the Atlantic.

Considerable damage was done to cars driven by Bertram Bath, 832 Bay Street, and James Penny, 619 Avalon Road, when they collided at Belleville and Government Streets at 3:10 yesterday afternoon. Constables R. Averill and H. Mercer of the city police reported. The Bath car, traveling west on Belleville Street, was struck on the right side by the Penny car, which was going south on Government Street, police said.

Black Witch Moth Travels Long Way

An unusual moth, bearing the name of black witch, has recently been captured alive in Victoria by Dr. J. L. Thompson of May Street, who presented it to the provincial museum through C. Shulbrook.

The chief point of interest lies in the fact that it is normally a resident of the West Indies and Central America, and is presumed to have flown, or been blown, or both, to the extreme northernmost part of its range.

The moth measured 6½ inches from tip to tip across expanded wings, which are broad in proportion. Only two other specimens are in the museum collection, taken in Victoria in 1908 and 1915 respectively.

Certain butterflies, such as the painted lady, clouded yellow and the monarch are known for their traveling propensities and are thus common at times in haunts far removed from the days of their caterpillarhood, but with moths instances of such movements are not so well known, and in the case of the black witch the movement is more of an individual accident than a planned migration, museum officials said.

Western Tournay Draws Golf Stars

Vancouver (CP)—Stan Leonard, Calgary, Canadian professional champ, will lead the Canadian contingent entered in the western Canada open golf tournament here August 21 to 23.

Edmonton is sending Henry Martell and Vancouver Island will enter a strong list.

Two or three topnotchers from Powell River, B.C., including the paper town's champion, Ernie Tate, will match shots with the others for the $1,000 award.

The Canadians will get plenty of opposition from south of the border with a strong list of American headliners ready to tee off.

Heading the roll will be Seattle's Harry Givan, Portland's Al Zimmerman, recent winner of the northwest open, Neil Christian, Yakima, runner-up to Freddy Wood of Vancouver in last year's tournament, Red Longworth and Chuck Congdon of Tacoma, and Joe Mozell and Eddie Hogan.

Ken Black, defending amateur champion, looks for strong opposition from Givan, Martell and a host of capable Vancouver amateurs.

No More Relief

VANCOUVER (CP)—W. R. Bone, civil social services administrator, said today relief recipients, with the exception of those physically handicapped, have been warned that they will be dropped from relief rolls at the end of August. He said that greater opportunities of employment created by the war had resulted in the decision to discontinue relief.

Speed Planes

MELBOURNE (AP)—The Australian aircraft industry is rapidly expanding and planes valued at $30,000,000 will have been built by the end of 1941. Production will be stepped up to a $60,000,000 production by 1942.

Prince Robert Model Adorns Sailors' Club

A large-scale model of St. Prince Robert, as she appeared before being taken over by the government, now occupies a place of honor in the lounge of Prince Robert House, the new sailors' hostelry which will be officially opened by the Lieutenant-Governor next Tuesday afternoon.

The fine model, in special showcase, which has been on display in Canadian National offices in the past, was made available to the Victoria branch of the Navy League of Canada in connection with the opening of Prince Robert House, which takes its name from the vessel.

Commander C. T. Beard, R.C.N., in expressing pleasure at being able to house the ship model in the Douglas Street club for seamen, observed: "All we need now is a model of the Prince Robert since her lines were changed. Perhaps, who knows, we shall get it."

Wartime Bonus

In making this announcement W. J. Wilcox, vice-president, stated: "We are very pleased to announce this upward revision of our present wartime living allowance, to meet the increased cost of living as revealed by official government statistics."

Gutters Eyesore

Further support for the move of Alderman P. E. George in seeking to have Victoria's streets kept cleaner is contained in a letter received at the City Hall today from A. S. Denny.

"For years the litter in the gutters of this city has been an eyesore," Mr. Denny says, and adds that he heard one tourist say: "In Victoria, one must look up to the flower baskets, but never down to the gutters."

However, Mr. Denny's complaint is constructive. He suggests two or more men with barrows might regularly clean the gutters of downtown streets.

Town Topics

City police reported today several 60-foot rolls of copper pipe had been stolen from the B.C. Electric Railway Company warehouse on Discovery Street.

A purse containing $20 was stolen from a car parked on Government Street yesterday afternoon, Mrs. J. M. Nichol, 2592 Lansdowne Road, reported to city police.

Three drivers were fined $10 and $250 in Provincial Police Court yesterday for passing on a curve, for speeding through a restricted zone and for not having a commercial truck license.

A fine of $100 or two months in jail was the sentence imposed by Magistrate H. C. Hall in City Police Court today on Andrew Kennedy for supplying intoxicant to an Indian. Sgt. Roy Woolsey of the city police said he caught Kennedy handing Louie August a bottle of wine in a vacant lot on Cormorant Street, near Blanshard Street, yesterday afternoon. When arrested Kennedy struggled and kicked to get away, the sergeant said. A charge against the Indian for having liquor in his possession was withdrawn.

'Topper Returns' On Dominion Bill

Have some reverse English on the traditional case of the comedian who wants to do Hamlet.
George Zucco is the man, and he is fulfilling his wish in the Hal
Roach mystery-comedy, "Topper Returns," which comes tomorrow to the Dominion Theatre.

For many years, on stage and screen, Zucco has been identified with heavy drama. He's one of filmdom's most sinister heavies.
Zucco can transfix his intended victims with a look that makes a cobra, preparing to strike, seem as good-natured and inoffensive as a Cheshire cat.

"This is fun," Zucco said on the set of "Topper Returns." "This is like a vacation. I think comedy like this is what the public wants, and I'm happy to be connected with it."

"Seems to me that right now, with so much trouble in the world and people so tense, heavy drama isn't the suitable kind of entertainment. Comedy lets them relax."

'BITTER SWEET' ON CADET SCREEN

Nelson Eddy displays more musical versatility in "Bitter Sweet," the Noel Coward musical which opens today at the Cadet Theatre, than in any previous picture. He accompanies Jeanette MacDonald at the piano in both duet and solo numbers, plays the piano and violin in cafe sequences and also leads an orchestra.

'ZIEGFELD GIRL' LAVISH PICTURE

Lavish in its production, eye-filling in its beauty, abounding with melody and the world's most beautiful girls, "Ziegfeld Girl" opens today at the Atlas Theatre.
There are the screen's three most glamorous beauties: Judy
Garland, Hedy Lamarr and Lana Turner, the girls whose lives the film unfolds. Teamed with them are James Stewart and Tony Martin.

Three well-known Hollywood screen-personalities were cast in Walt Disney's "live-action" ani-

Dragon," although only the voices of these three actors are used.

The players are little Billy Lee, who was featured in "The Biscuit Eater"; Claude Allister, famed for his comic Englishman roles;
and Barnett Parker, well-known character actor, and their voices are heard in the production that is current at the Capitol Theatre.

The title of the Disney feature, in which Robert Benchley plays the leading role, is taken from a short story titled "The Reluctant

Prime Minister King Says:

U.K.-U.S. Declaration
Realistic, Spiritual

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King, in a statement given out at his office at noon today, said the meeting between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt and the joint British-American declaration of war aims "is bound to have a most important effect on world opinion."

He expressed deep satisfaction at the meeting which, he said, "could only lead to even closer relations in the future between the British Commonwealth and the United States of America."

"The friendship and understanding between the two leaders has now been sealed by their first meeting together," the Prime Minister's statement said.

UNDERSTANDING

"The text indicates complete understanding and co-operation in the prosecution of the war and complete agreement in the eventual objects of a peace of victory but not of vengeance."

The Prime Minister contrasted the meeting of the British and United States leaders who represented "the forces of freedom," with the meetings between Hitler and Mussolini "representing the forces of tyranny."

"From the meetings between Hitler and Mussolini there have come nothing but secret plans for domination and enslavement," the Prime Minister said.

"From the meeting between Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt there has come a new declaration of hope for mankind, of equal rights, world peace and the social and international justice without which they cannot be achieved."

Mr. King, the statement said, laid particular emphasis on those portions of the joint statement which dealt with the extension to all nations of the principles of close collaboration in the economic field.

In recent years this collaboration had found increasing realization in the case of Canada, the United States and Great Britain.

EQUALITY

"Equality in trade opportunity, improvement of labor standards, social security, freedom for all men to use the avenues of commerce without hindrance, abandonment of force and disarmament were all objects for which the government of Canada had faithfully labored in accordance with the wishes of the Canadian people," Mr. King said, adding:

"The (British-American) statement is evidence of resolution in war, a determination to destroy Nazism and of the desire for a just, merciful peace."

"It is a declaration of realistic and spiritual significance."

'Just Bluff'
Says Axis

BERLIN (AP)—The first authorized German reaction to the war aims statement of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill was that the whole declaration was a "propaganda bluff."

"Churchill and Roosevelt are unfortunate in their declaration being made at a time when every hour brings new reports of impressive successes for German arms in the Ukraine," one Nazi spokesman asserted.

Previously, there had been only the brief report of D.N.B., the German News Agency, that the United States President and British Prime Minister had met and issued their joint statement.

D.N.B. later said Roosevelt and Churchill had agreed on an eight-point war aim statement, but it did not give the points. It said the high spot was "disarmament of the Axis powers."

Another objective, the agency told German leaders, is that after "final destruction of Nazi tyranny," a permanent system of general security should be established.

It mentioned economic co-operation, but gave no details.

ROME REACTION

ROME (AP)—Fascist circles said the joint Churchill-Roosevelt declaration would fail to run the Axis countries off their courses.

Fascists had forecast that Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt had agreed on a war plan before its announcement. The authoritative editor Virginio Gayda, anticipating such an announcement, said United States and Britain were "hatching new plots in the form

U.S. Senators Praise
Action of Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States government lieutenants expressed belief today Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt had enunciated noble principles which would be well received in all anti-Axis quarters.

Rep. Paul Shaner (Republican, Michigan), an opponent of administration foreign policy, said it sounded like the "same old sales talk."

One highly-placed Republican, Senator Warren R. Austin (Republican, Vermont), assistant minority leader, on the other hand, said the joint declaration was "very fine." He long has supported the democratic administration in its dealings with other countries.

Some opponents of Roosevelt policy declined immediate comment.

NOBLE CONCEPTION

Among those who praised the President and the Prime Minister was chairman Tom Connally (Dem.-Texas) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He said their statement embodied "principles of noble and lofty conception, with which I feel sure the people of the United States will agree."

of oratorical manifestations and stratagems toward this or that part of the globe in the vain hope of halting or deviating the fatal course of war."

The meeting, Gayda said in his Giornale D'Italia, was "proof of Anglo-Saxon worry, bewilderment and disorderly action." He noted that it took place at a time when the Russian situation was "critical" and when tension was growing worse between Japan and the United States and Britain.

"Whatever is said and done," said Gayda, "the war of the Axis, like that of Japan, will continue straight ahead on its course."

Queen Bee Saves Self By Leading Swarm Away

In every hive of honeybees, except in case of accident, there is a bee which we call "the queen." She is the mother, and her children usually are counted by thousands.

The queen bee does not help build the combs. She does not feed the young and does not even get food for herself. Ten or 15 workers are always near her. They give her food and do whatever is needed for her well-being.

Beekeeper capturing swarm of bees clustered on branch of tree.

The queen is larger than any of the other bees but that is not why she is treated with such honor. The workers care for her because they know that she alone can lay eggs which will hatch into other workers and queens. The worker bees sometimes can lay eggs which hatch into drones, but there are more drones than enough.

When the cells are ready for her, the queen lays one egg in each. In a single day she may lay eggs in more than 3,000 cells! The cells are of different sizes; the smallest are for eggs which will hatch into workers and the largest are for future queens. The cells which we may call "middle-sized" are for the drones.

The queen remains busy at her single task of laying eggs, day after day, week after week. When it nears the time for the young queens to come from their cocoons the old queen becomes nervous. She buzzes about and edges near the queen cells. The workers know there is danger—the old queen wants to sting her own daughters to death, lest they become her rivals and take control of the hive!

To prevent such an action the workers crowd about the queen cells and keep her away. They do her no injury but they protect the young.

Now the hive becomes the home of great numbers of new ones. Workers, drones and a few queens have been brought into the world.

There isn't room enough for all. The old queen knows her life is in danger, but instinct tells her how she can save herself. Out of the hive she flies, buzzing and humming as if to say:

"Come! All who wish to follow me! Come! I will lead you to a place where there is plenty of room!"

The other bees knew that she would try this trick and many of them are ready to go forth with her as the leader. Some may even have made false starts and swarmed a little distance outside, but no swarm will stay anywhere without a queen.

Of the several young queens which are hatched, only one can remain at the old hive. The others must either lead forth swarms or be stung to death.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—How can a young man go with an extremely pretty, intelligent, well-educated, charming girl for two years and not love her, or I should say, not propose to her? He is very well-to-do, amply able to support a wife, and she has a good income of her own. This girl reads to him, she dances with him, and serves him with all sorts of dainties, and still he just comes and sits and sits without popping the question. What do you think?

AUNT MOLLY.

Answer: I think he is one of the social deadbeats who take all that a girl will give without ever meaning to make any return. Such men have no conscience so far as the woman is concerned. They are so rottenly selfish that they never consider any one's good or pleasure but their own.

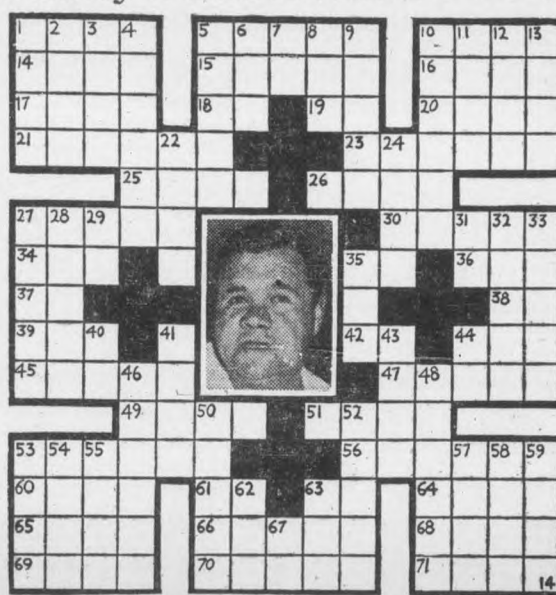

This man admires your niece, he enjoys her society, he likes to be petted and spoiled, and he luxuriates in the thought that she loves him, but he doesn't want to take upon himself the restrictions and the responsibilities of matrimony. So he spends his evenings in your most comfortable chair, letting this charming maiden work like a coal heaver to entertain and amuse him, and that's all there is to it.

After a bit he will grow tired of her and her pretty bag of tricks, and some younger and fairer girl with a newer line will come along and he will transfer himself from your parlor to another, and your niece will be left lamenting.

It is nothing to him that he is monopolizing her and that he is linking her name with his, so that when he does forsake her she will be virtually in the position of a jilted girl. It is nothing to him that he is keeping eligible suitors away from her, and probably dooming her to be an old maid, because it is while her youth and beauty are in full flower that a girl has her best chances of making a good marriage.

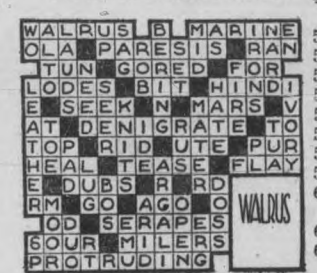

DOROTHY DIX.

LILLOOET (CP)—Trail blazers, headed by George M. Murray, former M.P.P. for Lillooet riding, and Robert Kirby of the public works department have left for Moha with a view to providing an outlet for the gold-seeking prospectors who are rushing into the Eliza Lake district following reports last week that high-grade ore had been found in the area.

Murray and Kirby will be joined by three others who are familiar with the terrain up the Yalacan River and the desolate "Devil's Oven" country in the Shulaps.

Mr. Murray expects to meet a party of engineers from Bralorne who are leaving the discovery claim and heading down Blue Creek, which mouths the Yalacan about 25 miles from Moha Junction.

Pack horses are being brought up and Indians are reported getting the best price in years for cayuses, so great is the demand in the Bridge River district for horses and saddle ponies.

The discovery of high-grade ore in the district was made some months ago by two young prospectors, Bill White and A. Eldridge, investigating an old Indian legend that a great cache of gold existed in the glacier district, went into the desolate area and returned with samples of ore which later were found to contain gold values running $100 a ton.

In Ancient Colony

Newfoundland Becomes Hemisphere Crossroads

By WADE WERNER
ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP)—Newfoundland has become one of the most important crossroads of the western hemisphere, and the result is a quintuple traffic jam.

Telegraph and cable communications are overcrowded. The island's railway facilities are swamped. Automobile roads are pinch-hitting as arteries of military supply. The shipping shortage, felt everywhere on the north Atlantic, handicaps deliveries here, too. And lakes all over the island are being used as landing places while airplane runways are rushed to completion.

BUSY PORT

St. John's has become one of the world's busiest seaports, crowded with ships carrying Canadian and United States supplies to Britain, or with ships bringing men and supplies for new United States bases.

The narrow-gauge Newfoundland railway, operating trains on a three-times-a-week basis, is attempting to serve the transportation needs of two armies—Canadian and American—whose garrisons are established here, as well as that other army of construction—workers busy on big new military bases.

Rich in lakes and sheltered bays, Newfoundland is full of natural landing places for seaplanes. Consequently the duck—amphibian plane—is an extremely useful military vehicle here. When someone or something simply has to be sent in a hurry from one base to another, flying the duck solves the problem. But that takes care of only a small percentage of urgent traffic.

Newfoundland airport, one of the biggest flying fields in the world—with paved runways as broad as the average runway is long—is in an extremely isolated position. To get there one must travel either by rail or by air—and in no case without military permission. There is no town near the railway station and no highway connection with the outside world.

But there has been no rush to connect this great field—operated by the Royal Canadian Air Force but used also by the United States army air corps—with other points on the island by motor road. The theory has been that roads would help a potential enemy more than they would serve the field.

And so it happens that Newfoundland airport, as a vital crossroads of air traffic, is closer to London by air than it is to St. John's by rail.

Recently a distinguished passenger left Newfoundland airport on a bomber about the time other passengers boarded the train for St. John's. By the time the train travelers were stepping from their sleepers at St. John's railway station the bomber's passenger had been delivered and appropriately welcomed in England.

From Newfoundland airport to New York is a little over five hours' flight. By rail and boat from New York to St. John's is almost five days.

Duplicate Napoleon

Red Refugees Fatalists
Pushed Around by Fate

By ALVIN J. STEINKOPF
SMOLENSK, Russia (via Berlin) (AP)—With all their modern striking weapons, the Germans admit they only duplicated Napoleon's military feat in this region by taking Smolensk in two days of active fighting.

But Smolensk itself suffered immeasurably more this time because of the development of machines of war since Napoleon's ill-fated invasion of Russia.

CHASED OUT

This time, the Germans say, the Russians were chased out in two days, but their long-range artillery clung to a slight rise in the ground west of the Dnieper River. For a week after the Germans arrived, shells poured into the city and what's left now is desolation.

The Russians finally were dislodged from the heights, but not in time to save much of this city of 160,000 inhabitants, the Nazi account goes. Now Smolensk is a wilderness of blackened chimneys standing like tree trunks after a forest fire.

Poking around in the debris are fugitives beginning life anew in the shadow of the chimneys. For them the earth has been scorched.

These fugitives seem different from those of Belgium and France. They are more fatalistic, less terrified. In fact, they don't seem to be scared at all, are just being pushed around by fate and are taking it with meek resignation.

The highways of Russia are not so crowded with fugitives as were the roads of France and Belgium. The road from Minsk is a solid procession of German cars which kick up a cloud of dust visible for miles.

But there are comparatively few fugitives in this snarl of traffic. The homeless Russians still are largely in hideouts in the woods and in hundreds of tiny villages. They are coming back slowly.

The Russian "mayor" of Smolensk, who was appointed by Nazi military authority, is spreading word that the fugitives should not come back immediately. In Smolensk their homes are destroyed and they would merely add to the confusion.

Pirates' Baseball
Deal Called Off

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates' deal with St. Paul of the American Association League in which pitcher Joe Bowman was to be traded for Oral C. Hildebrand was called off yesterday.

President William Benswanger of the Pirates told Bowman, who arrived here yesterday from St. Paul, to return to his home town of Kansas City for treatment of his ailing right arm. Bowman's disclosure of the ailment caused the proposed deal to fall through.

Meanwhile the whereabouts of Hildebrand was unknown. While Bowman reported to St. Paul, Hildebrand failed to arrive in Pittsburgh after leaving St. Paul. Pirate officials said the right-hander would go back to St. Paul when located.

"Capital" Telephone Numbers in Use Soon

Because of telephone growth in Victoria, a third dial telephone unit, to be known as "Capital," will be opened shortly to supplement the two existing units, "Garden" and "Empire." Installation of the new equipment in the central office has been completed, and the first of the "Capital" numbers will come into use in a few days. To call a "Capital" number, dial the letter "C" and then the four figures of the number.
